TWO LITTLE BOYS NEAR DEATH IN FLAMES

Overturned Candle Is Cause Of Fire; Lads Escape In Their Nightclothes

When little Carl Ralphs, aged 10 years, crawled into bed last night at his home, 424 West Palmer avenue, he overturned a candle which he and his little brother used to illuminate the room while they were undressing. The candle caught fire to a pile of newspapers and ignited the burlap covered walls of the little bedroom.

Parents of the little boys, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ralphs, were several miles away at the bedside of Mr. Ralphs' father, who is dangerously ill. When they reached home after the fire had been extinguished, they found not a single article of furniture or clothing saved. The two little boys awaiting their arrival at the home of a neighbor with tears in their frightened eyes told, as best they could, how it all had happened.

Kicks Over Candle

Carl said he and Everett had come home after playing with some other boys some time after 7 o'clock. He said they could not turn on the electric light, so dug out the old candle from a kitchen drawer. They dressed for bed and Everett crawled in and went to sleep. Carl said he sat on the floor reading some papers and then went to get into bed also.

As he threw back the covers and crawled in, he kicked over the candle, he said, and the papers caught afire. He said he first tried to beat out the flames with an old coat, but that they ate up the side of the wall so rapidly that he awakened his younger brother and, together, the pair made their way out of the house, screaming as they went.

Neighbor Hears Cries

A neighbor who heard the screams, rushed to the scene and, after investigating, ran for a bucket of water with which to put out the fire. When he returned, he said, what had been but a small blaze a second before, had spread through the entire house. An alarm was sounded and apparatis from stations 1 and 2 responded.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Ralphs and an older son, aged 15, hunted out the remnants of what were once articles of clothing, furniture and other household goods. Only a small bookcase in a remote corner of the living room remained uncharred. In it were preserved a number of books and a small box kodak. The clothing they had on their backs was virtually all that was not consumed by the flames. Neighbors furnished the two smaller children with wearing apparel this morning.

The house was of the boarded up-an-down variety, covered with burlap on the inner walls. It was badly burned throughout the entire five rooms. Damage to the house and contents was estimated at $500 by Chief A. H. Lankford of the fire department. The fire started about 8 o'clock. Mrs. Nellie Smith of Jefferson and Western avenues, Los Angeles, owner of the place, was notified this morning.

Lew Dockstader, Noted Minstrel Man, Is Dead

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Lew Dockstader, veteran blackface funmaker known to all minstrel-loving America during his fifty years with quips and burnt cork, will be buried tomorrow after services at All Angels church here. Dockstader died Sunday from an illness which attacked him while he was playing in Proctor's, Newark, N. J. He was 68 years old. He was a native of Hartford, Conn. His real name was George Alfred Clapp.

Countess Korolyi Is Allowed to Land Here

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Countess Catherine Korolyi, an active Socialist and wife of Hungary's former premier, was permitted to land today from the liner George Washington, despite charges from Stanwood Menken, president of the National Security league, that she was Bolshevik so crimson that Hungary called her "Red Catherine."

North China Huge Armed Camp, Await Battle In Peking

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—North China is a huge armed camp and bitter fighting is hourly expected in several important places, including the environs of Peking itself, according to official dispatches received here today.

The coup d'etat of Feng Yu Hsiang, the Christian general, in seizing the capital and ousting Kun, while General Wu Pei Fu, his supporter, was engaged in a crucial battle with Chang Tso Lin on the Shanghai Kwan front, has complicated rather than simplified the situation, officials said.

BOY BANDITS GET $600 IN HOLDUP

Four Youths Enter Bank In San Francisco and Lock Employes In Room

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Four unmasked "boy" bandits today held up the Haight and Fillmore street branch of the Mercantile Trust Co., locked four employes in a rear room and escaped with $600. Two of the bandits entered the bank, flourishing guns, and forced the employes into the rear room. Due to the fact that the bank had been opened but a short time only a small amount of cash had been brought from the vaults. Two other bandits entered and secured the coin in sight.

Several customers who entered the bank were locked in the rear room with the bank employes. One of the bank employes succeeded in setting off a burglar alarm as the bandits fled, and police were quickly on the scene. A shotgun squad is tracing the bandits who are thought to have escaped in an automobile.

Government Offices Closed for Funeral

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The wheels of government slowed down and stopped today as a mark of respect for Secretary of agriculture Henry C. Wallace, who died late Saturday after a brief illness. By executive order, all governmental departments were closed from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m., the period covering the time of the funeral services at the White House.

Howard M. Gore, assistant secretary, who is the Republican candidate for governor of West Virginia, has abandoned all speaking tours to carry on the work of the department until President Coolidge names Wallace's successor. His campaign in Virginia, he said, will be carried on by friends.

Macdonald Optimistic Over Coming Election

LONDON, Oct. 27—Despite the "Russian affair" Premier Macdonald was optimistic today, predicting a Laborite victory in the general election Wednesday.

CONVICTION UPHELD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Clarence H. Shively of Seattle, Wash., convicted in a lower federal court of conspiracy with Charles J. Cook to violate the prohibition laws, lost in the supreme court today his petition for review and reversal of his conviction.

MAKES BRIBE CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Police authorities today launched an investigation of charges of J. M. Scott, a salesman, that Wilbur H. Rice, policeman, had demanded and received $25 from him at the point of a gun, following a liquor transaction. Rice was held in jail.

ELKS TO CELEBRATE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27—Preparations were completed here today for ground-breaking Wednesday on the $2,000,000 Elks home.

CHIHLI ARMY READY FOR INVADERS

General Wu Heifu Prepares To Repulse Manchurians And Retake Peking

TIEN TSIN, Oct. 27.—China's civil war is not over.

Wu Heifu, former commander-in-chief of the Chihli army battling the invading Manchurian army of Chang Tso Lin in the region of the great wall along the Manchurian-Chihli border, arrived here today from the war area and said that while hard hit by the treachery of Feng Yu Hsian, the Yu Shiang general who recently defeated Wu and marched upon Peking, he was fully determined to carry on the war against Manchuria and to recapture Peking from General Feng.

General Wu expressed confidence in his ability to prevent the Manchurian army from invading Chihli province, in which Peking is located. He pointed out that he still holds the Peking-Mukden railway line to within twenty miles of Peking.

In addition General Wu claimed the full support of all the central provinces of China which, he declared, were rushing reinforcements to him at Tien-Tsin with a view of assembling an army of a hundred thousand men for a drive toward Peking.

Morale Holds Up

General Wu sent a note to the diplomatic corps at Peking branding General Feng as a "traitor" and an "ingrate," and declaring that Tsao Kun, the Chihli political chieftain, was still the legal president of China.

Foreign observers returning from Shanhai Kuan, a gate post in the great wall and scene of much severe fighting between Chihli and Manchurian troops, reported that the morale of the Chihli troops was good in spite of General Feng's withdrawal of his baptized soldiers from Wu Pei Fu's support.

These observers added that they do not believe Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord, can continue his advance into Chihli province within less than two weeks.

May Arraign Speaker After Elections Held

BELFAST, Oct. 27.—Eamonn De Valera, who is under arrest here because he insisted upon making political addresses in Ulster in defiance of the Ulster government, may not be arraigned until after Wednesday's general election, it was learned today. De Valera arrived this afternoon and was immediately placed in prison. A mob of 1,000 men and women booed and hissed De Valera as he was being taken to prison under guard of 100 armed police.

Tujunga Home Robbed Of Victrola, Silverware

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—H. J. Thomas of 128 Oleander street, Tujunga, reported today his home was robbed last night, the principal loot taken being a victrola. Women's clothing and silverware also were taken, according to Deputy Sheriffs West and Large, who are investigating.

CIVIC CENTER MEETING TO BE HELD

National Expert on Subject to Speak Here Wednesday At Harvard High

George Braden, west division representative of the National Playground and Recreation association, with headquarters in Pasadena, will be the principal speaker in the booster meeting in the Harvard High school Wednesday night, when friends of the civic center project, to be submitted to the voters of Glendale in the election next week, will discuss phases of the proposed movement. The civic center campaign committee, sponsor for the gathering, has also included three local speakers on the program.

Mr. Braden, who has just returned from the Recreation congress in Atlantic City, is an authority on civic center, city park and city playground planning, subjects which the national organization has been actively engaged in forwarding the past twenty years. He will discuss civic center planning in connection with work being done in hundreds of American cities and compare it to the proposed movement in Glendale. Mr. Braden is known as a particularly entertaining speaker, who has a personal interest in this subject.

Outline of Discussion

Glendale citizens who will speak in favor of the project will precede Mr. Braden, their talks touching on different aspects of the proposed measure. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson will discuss the benefits to be derived from the civic center and what it means to Glendale. The value of the property and what it is actually worth to Glendale will be considered in remarks by W. L. Truitt and L. H. Wilson, Mr. Wilson also speaking of what the loss of the property from public ownership will mean in the future, with reference to such occurrences in other cities.

Community singing, led by J. Arthur Myers, also will be included in the program.

Arrangements for the meeting, which is expected to be largely attended, is in charge of O. M. Newby, of the Civic Center Campaign committee. He will be assisted by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, J. E. Barney, G. F. Orgibet and George Lyons.

Liquor Case Appeal Is Denied by Higher Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Frank Kepl, of Spokane, Wash., lost in the supreme ccurt of the United States today his appeal for re-hearing of a continuation for violation of the prohibition law by bringing whiskey from Canada into the state of Washington. Kepl was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Six Buildings Razed In Mysterious Blaze

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27—A mystery fire destroyed six buildings in the business district of Watts, Los Angeles suburb, today, causing damage estimated at $200,000. Two firemen were overcome by smoke and were reported suffering from severe burns.

World Flyers Leave For San Diego Field

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Cancelling two days' entertainment program arranged in their honor, America's round-the-world flyers hopped off from Clover field, Santa Monica, today for San Diego.

The flyers will return here tomorrow for a brief visit, it was announced.

It was reported the airmen will leave within a few days for Washington, where they have been summoned, it was said, to make an official report of the world cruise.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 27.—America's round-the-world flyers arrived at North Island early this afternoon from Los Angeles, it was announced. The flyers are expected to remain here at least a week and probably longer, while their machines are being checked and studied by government experts at North Island.

Mercury Tablets Taken For Candy Kills Boy, 3

Death of Tommy Bloomingdale, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bloomingdale, Saturday in Claremon was the aftermath of the boy's fondness for candy. The child found tablets on the window sill of his home while playing with his brother, and, thinking them candy, ate several. The child, when found by his parents a few minutes later, was spitting and coughing. He had swallowed bichloride of mercury. Medical aid was given and he appeared to be recovering until Friday night when his condition became worse.

Mrs. Bloomingdale was formerly Miss Dorothy Stanton of Glendale. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Jail Sentences for Tar and Feather Mob

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 27.—Jail sentences were meted out here today to one woman and eleven men for their part in the tarring and feathering of pretty Dorothy Grandon, 20, along the Meyersville road last July. Mrs Mary Shanks, who took a prominent part in the tarring party because Dorothy "vamped" her husband, received two sentences of nine months each, one for rioting and one for tarring and feathering. The terms will run concurrently, however, so Mrs. Shank will serve only nine months in the county jail.

Merchants Vote Closing Stores Armistice Day

Verifying a former decision, members of the Glendale Merchants' association voted to close all places of business in the city on Armistice Day, November 12, at their regular weekly luncheon today in Alley Inn. Charles Hatz, president of the association, presided.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—After locking himself in a room, D. Agailipay, a janitor, slashed his throat here today. He will die, police surgeons said.

RUTH DENIES RAPPING LANDIS

Home-Run King Announces He Will Park Bat During 'Closed Season'

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Emphatically denying that he had ever "rapped" Judge Landis and that he had intimated he would jump organized baseball unless Landis rescinded his ruling against big league players participating in exhibition games after October 31, Babe Ruth today bitterly denounced a San Francisco newspaper reported to have quoted him as being antagonistic to Landis.

"I did not give or authorize any interview such as I am reported to have in San Francisco or any other place," the home-run king said. "I do not intend to appear before the National commission in connection with after-season playing."

Abide by Rule

"Of course we baseball players would like to play ball the year round and made a wad of dough all the time, but as long as baseball rulings are contrary to this, I will never swing my bat between November 1 and spring training time," continued Ruth.

The Bambino was met here, where he will take part in a game for charity this afternoon, by a huge delegation of fans, headed by Harry Williams, president of the Pacific Coast league.

Earl McNeely, star Washington outfielder, will also appear in the game with Ruth.

Hero of Auto Crash Is Dead In Hospital

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 27.—Funeral services were being planned here today for Mrs. T. G. Kelty, claimed by death for her heroism. Mrs. Kelty, who a week ago slashed her wrists with broken glass, following an automobile accident near here in which her husband was killed, in order to feed blood to her five-year-old niece, Meredith Waterbury, died last night while the entire community prayed for her recovery. Donations have already been received for a stone monument to mark Mrs. Kelty's grave.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Articles of incorporation have been filed by Glendale Crystal Ice Company, Glendale; directors, H. P. Coker, Sr., M. M. Coker, and Harry P. Coker, Jr., all of Glendale; capital stock, $100,000.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS

LOCKHART, Texas, Oct. 27.—Fire of undetermined origin that has already destroyed cotton valued at almost $1,000,000, was still raging within the Farmers' Union warehouse after twenty-four hours here today.

REGISTERED VOTERS TOTAL IS BASIS OF ESTIMATE TO DETERMINE CITY'S GROWTH

Now 16,238 Persons Are Qualified to Cast Their Ballots; Republicans Are in Lead, Official Figures Display

The population of Glendale today is over 57,000. That statement was made this morning by W. M. Kerr, Los Angeles county registrar of voters, in an exclusive interview with a representative of The Glendale Evening News, and is borne out by the official records of his office, which show that 16,238 registered voters from this city are qualified to cast a ballot at the November 4 election.

The commonly accepted population index of three and one-half times the registered voters is used by Mr. Kerr as the basis for his estimate, giving an approximation of 56,833 people living within this city on October 4, the last day open for registration. Since that time, at the most conservative estimate, 167 or more residents have been added, bringing the population to 57,000 or better.

REPUBLICANS ARE FAR IN MAJORITY

The last check on population from registration figures was had at the time of the sewer bond election on January 4 of the present year, when there were registered 14,147 voters, according to records in the office of Mr. Kerr. Using the same index of three and one-half, the population at that time was seen to be 49,514.

The 16,238 registered voters of the city of Glendale qualified to cast a ballot at the forthcoming presidential election are shown as follows on Mr. Kerr's books:

Republican	10,182
Democratic	2,905
Declined to state	2,737
Prohibition	318
Socialist	96

These figures show that Glendale is forging consistently ahead in population, declares Mr. Kerr, and they indicate that the growth of the city is neither forced nor hurried, but sure.

Season's Second Rain Is Expected Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—A new rain, the second of the season, is scheduled to reach Southern California tonight, according to weather bureau officials. Moisture is needed in agricultural sections.

Rain Through North

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Northern and Central California were being drenched with rain today as a result of portions of the North Pacific storm having moved inland over British Columbia, with a trough extending southward. The main storm remains in the North Pacific. The outlook is for continued unsettled weather and rain north of the Tehachapi tonight and tomorrow with a probable extension of the rain into southern California Tuesday. The heaviest rainfall was at Chico where .80 inch was reported during the last forty-eight hours.

Girl Takes Own Life After Father Reproves

WALLINGTON, N. J., Oct. 27.—Valentine Suder, 14, shot and killed herself today because her father scolded her for remaining outside her home late last night.

"I hope he's found dead under a fence some day like a dog," said a note she left, alluding to the father, a tinsmith. Suder said he reproved the girl for her late hours and then whipped her. The note, according to Dr. W. E. Ogden, county physician, complained that Suder had not treated the girl as a father should treat his daughter and that marks on her body would prove that assertion.

Supports Christians In Entering Warfare

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Christians may be soldiers. The Lutheran church of America took this stand today in a resolution defending "just" wars which was adopted after a stormy debate in which the pacifist element of the church was decisively defeated. The action of the church, putting it definitely on record as opposed to the outlawing of war for Christians was taken at the fourth biennial convention of the United Lutheran church in America, in session here.

France Arranges For Big Loan From U. S.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Tentative arrangements were made here today for France to obtain a loan of from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 in the United States. J. P. Morgan held a conference with Finance Minister Clemental, when they agreed in principle that France should obtain the loan in New York. The details are not yet settled. France wants the money to stabilize the franc and to take up maturing bonds.

Major-General Haan Dies In Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Major-General William A. Haan, who commanded the Thirty-second divisions, composed of Michigan and Wisconsin troops, in the Argonne and other severe engagements in France, died here early today at Mount Alto hospital. Death was due to a complication of diseases. He was 62 years old.

Woman Admitted She Killed Babe, Report

WOOSTER, Ohio, Oct. 27.—"I didn't think the baby would have a fair chance, so I killed it," Mrs. Homer Tobias, a meek little woman of 21 years, confessed to police after Dr. R. C. Paul discovered finger marks on the throat of her two-weeks' old son, who died Saturday afternoon at the county infirmary.

BUSINESS MAN ON CIVIC CENTER USE

A.W. Hewitt of Improvement Company Does Not Favor Central Location

Editor, The Evening News—Noting the letter published in your paper Thursday, signed by L. H. Wilson, in regard to the Civic Center issue, it seems only fair to the voters to controvert some of the arguments offered and place before them some of the cold blooded facts in this matter.

The present day understanding of the term civic center is that it is a focal point for the pursuit of civic duties and the execution of the city's business. It has never meant the business center of the city and there is no city in California today that has a civic center in its business district such as the Harvard High site would be. I say California cities because they are the most modern and the best in civic work is being done.

Bay City Reference

Mr. Wilson speaks of San Francisco. The writer lived there many years and was there during the big fire in 1906. Their city buildings at that time were located on Market street and were totally destroyed by the fire. The entire business district was in ruins. Had the city wanted a down town site it could have been easily secured. As a matter of fact the city still owns the corner of Fifth and Market next to the emporium. It is leased with a business block on it. Instead they took the opportunity to get off of Market street and moved their Civic Center into the residential district two blocks north. They have never regretted the move.

Where would you park ten thousand machines in a business district when there is a function in the auditorium? You who have been there know how large the place is. It is a recognized fact that city buildings or city parks in a business district are dead spots and absolutely shut off business development in its direction. Witness Pershing Square in Los Angeles, St. Francis Square in San Francisco, down town parks in Sacramento, San Jose, Stockton and other California cities. You will find that they have stopped for years the business growth around them.

Central Idea Passe

The idea of a central civic center in a business district has been done away with in every large city. Mr. Wilson refers to Los Angeles. You are all familiar with the district of the new city buildings. Years ago business expansion north was killed on account of them and they can do no further harm. You will notice the new hall of justice is a height limit building as are all civic buildings in large cities everywhere that are being built today. The business district of Los Angeles was forced south and the new city buildings will never be surrounded by retail business.

We do not maintain that a civic center should be on the outskirts of a city. It should be located so as to not interfere with the proper expansion of a business district. It requires little vision to see the business district of Glendale take in the entire territory between Wilson, Glendale Ave., Colorado, and Central Ave. and beyond. It will never happen if you vote the Harvard site for a city hall or civic center site. You will absolutely kill business on Colorado and Harvard, eastward as it has been killed so far by the present school.

Los Angeles Reference

Sooner or later the school board will secure a tremendous price for this property and it will be sold for business blocks as has been the case in other cities. Witness the Mercantile Arcade Place in Los Angeles; formerly school property. Why did not the city of Los Angeles use the school property on Grand and Eighth for a public building? There is a million dollar business block going on it. Why is Fifth and Market streets, San Francsco leased for twenty-five years at a tremendous rental. It is school property and saves the taxpayers some money. I can mention innumerable instances.

Why should we act like a small country village? We are going to be a city some day. Why not get the advice of some expert city planners before you vote a thing like this? Take every city in this state and an investigation will bear out what I say in regard to city buildings and public parks in business districts.

Stockton Recalled

The city of Stockton, 50,000 population, is spenindg four million dollars for a civic center being built right now that was located seven blocks from its business center and it is scrapping a library and a courthouse that are worth five times what the Harvard school is worth and they are located in the business district of the city and have retarded its growth for years. The buildings are to be torn down and the real estate sold for business blocks.

There is no argument for these things. They are being done. The city of Stockton has the highest paid city manager in the United States, $20,000 per year and he saves his salary every few months. They sought outside advice and used a year finding out the right thing to do. Why should we, a city larger, rush headlong into this unwise thing because a few men have recommended it without any kind of investigation or advice?

Reputation to Sustain

I could write column upon column as to various cities of this state and show you how they have located their city buildings and why, and my statements would be substantiated in all of them. Let's find out what other cities are doing and why. Southern California is presumed to show the way to the world. Let us not in Glendale make ourselves foolish. We have a reputation to sustain. If you want an up-to-date city hall, why not a tall building on the Broadway fire department site or use the present city hall property for a building of several floors?

Economic business sense says to make the most use of what we have. If we knew we were never going to annex to Los Angeles we might well afford a fine large civic center property located, but don't forget that the purchase of the Harvard High property brings more things into consideration than appears at first sight.

Wm. N. McMillan, realtor of 122 West Broadway, says: "I am for Coolidge. I have always voted the Democratic ticket, but I would like to see business conditions continue good. The best way to insure this is to re-elect Coolidge. He is safe. La Follette is not only unsafe but dangerous."

Charles P. Nesselroad, who is among the well known and substantial citizens of his city, declares his position in the present campaign as follows:

"I am a Democrat politically, but I am more interested in the continued prosperity of this country than I am interested in political parties. There is not the slightest chance for the Democratic candidate to be elected. I am going to vote for Coolidge, as I believe the he is a safe, sane business man and will give the country an economical administration. Everything he has done since he has been president shows that he is honest and trustworthy in every respect. I regard La Follette as a menace to the country."

The reality of the threat which the Socialist party is making toward the country's continued prosperity is evidenced in a public address made by Philip La Follette, campaign manager for his father. "I can tell you," said young La Follette, "that if La Follette is elected president and he finds that he must bring hard times to cure the ills of the country, he will do it."

The Illinois Labor News has compiled information in tabloid form of President Coolidge's record on and his attitude toward labor, 1900 to 1920. This record and the source from which it finds its way into the campaign furnish another illustration of how futile it is in this country to try to divide the voters into classes along arbitrary lines. As Americans we have never known or recognized class distinctions here. The dignity of manual labor is acknowledged by every redblooded citizen and there has never been a time in the history of our country when those engaged in productive industry were more widely and genuinely respected on their merits as citizens than they are at the present time. And never before in the history of the world was labor so well paid as it is today.

Here in Glendale any citizen who has a modicum of information of what has transpired in this country within the past four years can quickly compile a list of prosperous local citizens now in business for themselves who have advanced from the wage-earning to the "capitalistic class," to use the language of those who are most diligent in creating class distinctions and promoting class antagonisms. A list could be compiled of persons in Glendale, now employers of labor, who were four years ago, or less, wage-earners, that would put to shame the promoters of discontent and malingers of their government. President Roosevelt tersely expressed the sentiment of the great body of Americans at the Minnesota state fair in 1902 when he said:

"We sometimes hear those who do not work spoken of with envy. Surely the wilfully idle need arouse in the breast of a healthy man no emotion stronger than that of contempt. The wilfully idle man has no place in a sane, healthy and vigorous community."

President Coolidge himself cherishes the friendship of a shoemaker in his home town among his genuine treasures and his record, as outlined by the Illinois Labor News, referred to above, is the result of his respect for those who work. In fact he would not respect himself if he did not respect those who work, for, like all Yankees of his generation, he was reared to work; idlers only were held in disrespect. This attempt to create social distinctions based on occupation is reprehensible in the extreme and to those in whom the spirit of America is "bred in the bone" such attempt is thoroughly disgusting.

If any among those of our people who are citizens by adoption have not acquired this point of view, the sooner they do acquire it, the better will be the quality of their citizenship. America is not cursed with class distinctions and never will be so long as it remains America.

MISS INEZ BARBARA STANFIELD, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Robert N. Stanfield of Oregon, is one of Washington's prettiest debutantes-to-be. She will be introduced on December 18 in the national capital society's set.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Oct. 25.—Discussion and approval of a plan for a skyline drive along the crest of the Verdugo hills from Glendale to Sunland, and of the enlarging of Monte Vista park, Sunland, were the principal accomplishments effected at the regular meeting of the valley roundtable, which consists of representatives from Sunland and Tujunga. T. W. Watson of Glendale outlined the skyline drive project, which is backed by property owners in the hill districts. They propose to annex certain portions of the Verdugo hills to the city of Glendale and bond the territory for the purpose of building a scenic drive along the ridge of the hills from Glendale to Sunland, touching the southern boundary of Tujunga. General approval of the plan was expressed by several speakers who followed Mr. Watson. The prevalent opinion was that the consummation of the plan would enhance property values in the entire section and open up for home building development a large territory which otherwise might remain undeveloped for several years.

The project of securing additional land for enlarging Monte Vista park was referred to a committee composed of H. H. Breidt of Tujunga, Hugh Brown of Sunland and Rudolph Henry of the Valley Center Improvement league. This committee will put the proposition before the county supervisors for action, as Monte Vista park is a county public park, and under control of the supervisors.

The next meeting of the roundtable will be held November 18, at the Sunland school auditorium, under the auspices of the Valley Center Improvement league.

Future applications for membership in the newly-formed Verdugo Hills Merchants' association will be passed upon by the organization before new members are accepted, according to a decision made at the last meeting in La Crescenta. The next meeting will be held next Tuesday October 28, 12:15 o'clock, at Legion hall, El Centro and Sunset boulevards, Tujunga.

Plans have been made by which the Parent-Teacher association expects to pay off all indebtedness by the first of next year. A cafeteria supper, followed by a bazaar, is planned for the evening of December 5. A used garment drive is being made, and on October 30 a sewing bee will be held at the home of Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, president, Los Angeles and San Ysidro streets. Afternoon tea will be served and silver offerings taken to swell the fund.

Plans are being made by Post 250, American Legion, to hold an allday turkey shoot the Sunday before Thanksgiving, probably at the Begue ranch on Michigan avenue.

A meeting has been called for Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, at the Tujunga school and auditorium, for the purpose of formally organizing a "Coolidge for President" culb and stimulating local interest in the Republican party. A request has been made at Republican headquarters in Los Angeles for capable speakers to address the meeting.

The first popular concert will be given by the choral society Friday, November 21.

Billy Royle, Jr., Plays Host on Third Birthday

Mrs. William J. Royle of 347 West Maple street gave a Hallowe'en birthday party Saturday afternoon for her little son Billy, named for his father, Lieut. "Bill" Royle of the detective squad, Glendale police department. Billy was three years old Friday. The Royle home was decorated in keeping with the Hallowe'en spirit and eighteen of Billy's little friends joined him in the celebration.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Oct. 25.—G. L. Nottage and Hugh Brown were appointed by the Sunland Chamber of Commerce to co-operate with a Tujunga committee in securing a disposal ground for rubbish and establishing collection service. The chambers of commerce plan to establish a garbage collection and disposal system to cover Tujunga and Sunland.

A supper and entertainment were given Friday night by the Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association. Pupils of the school presented sketches and there were games and refreshments.

At the last meeting of the Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association several subjects were discussed, including hot lunches for school pupils, a Christmas tree, Hallowe'en party and improvement of the school grounds. Plans were made to carry out the various projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rice of the Bungalow cafe have returned from an automobile vacation trip that included visits to San Francisco and the Mariposa big tree section.

An odd accident caused Chester Ryan of Sunland to suffer a broken and lacerated toe. He had that member of his anatomy in the emergency brake slot in the floor boards of an auto when the driver suddenly set the brake, the handle of which crushed the toe severely.

Mrs. Martha Powell, who has been ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. John R. James, has been taken to a Los Angeles hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Hollis of Keystone Lodge on Thousand Oaks drive recently entertained Mrs. Conrad Fisher of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Greece, Los Angeles, and Captain and Mrs. Houghton of San Diego.

San Fernando Valley to Pay Tribute to Wiggins

Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley will pay tribute to the late Frank Wiggins, veteran Los Angeles secretary, at the monthly meeting at Encino Country club tomorrow. Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce will be host. Sigma Pi musicians of KFI radio broadcasting fame will feature the evening's program. Gardner Hart, baritone, Gordon Holmquist, violinist, Waldo Edmunds, violinist, and John Holt, pianist, members of the Sigma Pi fraternity at the University of California here, will offer a series of jazz and semi-classical numbers. Several speakers have promised to appear. Following the banquet at Encino Country club, Associated Chambers will hold a monthly business meeting and discuss valley conditions.

Glendale Represented In U.S.C. Extravaganza

CASH AND CARRY STORES FOUNDED

Manager of Smart and Final Co. Makes Statement on Reasons for Chain

A. W. Lutz, manager of the Pasadena office of Smart and Final Co., today made the following statement:

"Recognizing the growing demand from the trade for facilities which will make it possible to purchase staple groceries at prices that will be less the cost of service, by performing the service themselves, we have established a number of one-man Cash and Carry Wholesale grocery stores in convenient locations throughout our territory.

"These stores will sell such groceries as are persistently cut in price by the retail trade, at practically cost to us, provided the customer will purchase the goods, in unbroken packages, pay for them when received, load and deliver same without assistance from us.

"As only one man will be in charge of each of these stores, they will close from 12 m. to 1:30 p. m. each day, to enable him to get his lunch and transact certain necessary clerical duties.

Three Stores

"We are establishing these stores in the hope that they will assist the trade in more adequately meeting competition.

"We must have the wholehearted co-operation of the customer if these plans are successful.

Service cannot be given free. If you do not require it, you should be relieved of its cost.

"No salesman or order clerks will be at these stores. The manager will make out bills and collect for what you buy. He will show you where to find the goods, which you will load and carry away in your own conveyances without our help. A warehouse truck will be at your disposal.

"Goods will be sold in original packages only. No broken stock will be carried at these stores—that kind of service being available through our salesmen and regular houses.

"Under no circumstances will our houses doing a full service business sell any goods on this basis; nor will we deliver even if paid for the service, C.O.D. or otherwise, any goods from these cash and carry stores.

Theory of Method

"They are founded upon the theory that the customer will do this work, and they cannot be maintained nor can we attain the object desired by any other means.

"Salesmen representing our service houses will have nothing to do with this cash and carry system, and cannot take orders or pick up goods of any kind purchased from them.

"We have made some important sacrifices to inaugurate these plans, in our desire to assist the trade in meeting a difficult situation.

"We hope to receive your full support in carrying out the details as outlined here."

The Glendale store at 109 South Jackson street will open for business on Monday, October 27.

Clubwomen Plan Xmas Cheer for Ex-Soldiers

Plans for the year's work and the providing of Christmas cheer for the soldiers at Sawtelle and other hospitals were made at the council meeting of Federated Women's clubs, called by Mrs. Henry T. Wright, district chairman of federated clubs in cooperation with ex-service men and women's affairs, held Thursday at the Junior Orpheum building in Los Angeles. Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, president of the Glendale American Legion auxiliary and chairman of the committee on cooperation with ex-service men and women attended. Representatives from forty clubs were present. It was decided that the federated clubs would provide the general hospital at Sawtelle with Christmas cheer.

Mrs. Gilliland and Mrs. Henry T. Wright met at 10 o'clock on Friday morning at Sawtelle and made a complete survey of the hospital and annex at Sawtelle. A joint meeting of repreesntatives of American Legion auxiliaries, chairman of federated clubs, American Legion Auxiliary County Council and Women's Overseas club with the Red Cross was held yesterday afternoon at Sawtelle to further the Christmas cheer work. In co-operation with the Red Cross medical social service unit, Mrs. E. W. Gilliland was appointed chairman at large from the district of Glendale, including all organizations in Glendale doing similar work. The next meeting will be held at Sawtelle November 21 and the chairman of federated clubs will meet November 28 in the Junior Orpheum building in Los Angeles.

Officials Discuss Wires At Glendale Air Field

Representatives of the Airport Co., city officials and officials of the Chamber of Commerce, met Friday and discussed the plan to place wires at the flying field underground. When this is done an invitation will be sent the commandant of the aviation field at San Diego, and other aviation and navy officers, to a dinner in Glendale when official announcement will be made that the Glendale field, now considered one of the best in the country, is open to use by aviators.

Fayal, Azores, and Emden, Germany, are to be connected by cable.

GIRL STUDENT TELLS NEWS OF TRIP

Glendalian Says 'There Is No Place Like Home' After Trip North

Bertha M. Traviss, a student at Walla Walla College, Washington, completing a commercial course, writes The Glendale Evening News telling of her trip north. According to Miss Traviss she never before had been away from the vicinity of Los Angeles. She wrote:

"My trip by automobile from Glendale to Walla Walla, Washington, was one which I never shall forget as I never had been away from the vicinity of Los Angeles. The scenery was wonderful and the mountains especially could be contrasted with those of California as they were covered with large pines and ferns of every variety.

Good Roads Found

"The roads were all in good condition with the exception of 135 miles between Redding, California and the Oregon border. This was being repaired and will be a splendid highway when completed.

"Frlit raising, cattle raising, farming and a limited amount of factory work are the chief occupations on the east side of the mountains. Labor conditions are not very good this year as it has been a very dry season and the fruit crop was poor and cut into by the frost. This made high prices for both the fruit and wheat for those who had these products.

No Place Like Home

"Walla Walla college, where I am completing my commercial work, is located at College Place, two and a half miles from Walla Walla. At present there are 393 students enrolled, 131 of whom reside in dormitories. Walla Walla has a population of about 18,000 and a number of stores here are very small and not nearly as attractive as those in Glendale. There is a beautiful residential district where the wealthy farmers have their homes. The weather has been very pleasant during the three weeks I have been here but after living in Glendale twelve years I can truly say, there is no place like home."

Egyptian Order Sciots To Honor Hallowe'en

Glendale Pyramid, No. 39, Egyptian Order of Sciots will install officers and a give a Hallowe'en party at the Masonic Temple, South Brand boulevard Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. All elective and appointive officers will be inducted into office at this meeting. Three of the most prominent Sciots of Southern California will be present to assist in the installation ceremonies. The musical entertainment will be in charge of one of Hollywood's greatest musical artists. Among others who will assist will be a noted Salt Lake City woman who will make her first bow to the Pacific coast on this occasion. Two barrels of apple cider and pumpkin pies will feature the "eats" program.

WORK FOR CIVIC CENTER RUSHED

Workers for Various Voting Precincts Planned to Push Campaign

Workers in the various voting precincts throughout the city will assist in boosting the civic center bond campaign, according to the campaign committee, which is meeting this afternoon at campaign headquarters, 102 East Harvard street. The session expedited matters of importance, due to the short time intervening between now and election day.

All able to work in support of the bonds are asked to communicate with some member of the committee or report at headquarters for assignment to help with the work.

In lining up additional workers for the civic center cause, each committeeman will take an active part. They are instructed to report the names of all signing for duty to campaign headquarters.

D. H. Smith, chairman of the campaign committee, presided.

MISS KELLER IS PRAISED FOR SHOW

Glendale Dancing Teacher Receives Compliments for Work of Pupils

Pearl Keller is being complimented and on behalf of her pupils for the program given last week at the Glendale theatre as the tenth annual "Children's Society Vaudeville" by the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art. The theatre was packed and included in the audience were several out of town guests, many of whom are prominent in the theatrical and motion picture worlds.

Assisting Miss Keller was A. R. Shepherd of Glendale, a member of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, who directed the music for the vaudeville. Mr. Shepherd also directed the music for the benefit program given last spring in Los Angeles by Keller pupils, and much of the success of both affairs is attributed to his splendid musical work. Adding greatly to the program was the elaborate costuming and artistic stage settings.

Program's Features

Features of the program were: "Scene Dansante," "Gypsy Rondo" and Russian dance by the clever Turner sisters; toe dance and "The Hunt" by Cecilia Mae Fischer; Oriental and scarf dance by Julia Pelley; "Skaters" and "Sunkist Dance" by the Hunt sisters; "La Parisienne" and "A Summer Episode" by Marie Louise Brown, who also gave exhibition of ballroom waltz with John Blades.

Eleanor Marek in "Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy," with Adrienne McDade, buck and wing, minuet and the butterfly ballet were especially applauded. The buck and wing dance by Eleanor Marek was one of the most popular numbers on the program.

Roberta Hope Simpson, daughter of Russell Simpson, motion picture star, gave a jazz dance. Other numbers were: Mirror dance by Geraldine Keleher; bowery dance by Glen Hitchcock; Cecil Brunner rose dance by Adrienne McDade; the elfin dance by Betty Jane Stewart; readings by Katherine Jane Bruner; Chinese and sword dance by Nellie Aleshire; jester dance by Eloine Truitt; musical readings by Alberta Swall and Marjorie Turner, and "Merry Widow" dance by Mildred Maranville.

Dance Groups

Group dances were: Skirt, firefly, Irish jig, cupids by the baby class, Russian by boys, tambourine, flirtation, butterfly ballet, Egyptian and Grecian dance.

Among the guests were Mrs. Charlotte Pickford and little Mary Pickford, George Melford, Mr. and Mrs. James Neill, Mrs. Edward Stevens and daughter, Miss Tina Stevens, June Hamilton Rhodes, a representative of the West Coast Theatres, Mabel Van Buren and daughter, Katherine Van Buren, Allen Torrey, member of the Doris Keane company, Esther Ralston and party from Lasky company.

Patronesses were: Mesdames A. H. Montgomery, Alexander Mitchell, Mattison B. Jones, Daniel Campbell, S. C. Packer, A. S. Chase, D. L. Gregg, W. A. Howe, Paul Carson, C. B. Guthrie, J. F. Hearnshaw, A. H. Dibbern, James Neill, R. E. Chase, Ralph Browne, W. P. MacMullin, C. C. Cooper, G. L. Koeding, Nathan Rigdon, Warren Roberts, T. C. Young, J. G. Huntley and C. J. Hatz.

Miss English, of the domestic science department; Mrs. Goldthwaite, and Mrs. Tugenrish also were present. Luncheon was served. Mr. Olney, member of the state board, spoke.

'YE MARKET' NOW OPEN TO PUBLIC

City's Newest General Store Visited by 40,000 People On First Day

Forty thousand persons attended the opening of "Ye Market Place," Glendale's newest general market, Saturday, according to estimates given by the management. More than 11,000 automobiles parked during the day in the public parking space provided in the semi-circular space in front of the big market. Among these were cars bearing license numbers of 34 of the 48 states in the Union. Illinois lead all states with the exception of California, it was reported.

Throughout the day crowds of visitors which overflowed the market place were entertained with music and other features. Of particular interest was the food display which covered 2,500 square feet of space in the center of the building. Another feature was the unfurling the five flags, recently adopted by the city council of Glendale as the official emblem of the city.

Merchants with concessions in the market united today in thanking the public for the unexpected and unequalled attendance and patronage of the opening day. They are: Young's Market Co. Inc., E. H. Morrison, Rabin Brothers, New England Bakery, Russell's Kitchen Equipment Shop, Schuyler and Harshman, Barabe's Hot Lunch and Confections and Ye Market Place Florist.

Appear In Dance Number

JANE and ALICE LEIGHTON, talented daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leighton, 123 West Elk street, who are in the "Danse Egyptian" on the ballet program presented tonight by Miss Marcella Webb at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Marcella Webb, well known ballet teacher of Glendale, and her pupils, are to appear tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in a program of Russian and Italian ballet, given under the auspices of the Music department of the club. While sponsored by the club, the program is for all lovers of the Music department. She states that tickets for the affair will be available at the door. The program will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Webb's artistry as a dancer and teacher is well known in Glendale. For this program she is presenting her talented pupils in some very clever and brilliant dances.

The program will be in three parts. Part one will be "Les Petites Ballerinas (Chaminade) by Jean McLane, Harriet Northfoss and Margaret Ege; "The Baby Chick" (Abtler) by Kathryn Loose; "Valse Gracieuse" (Lacombe) by Eveline Gillette "Dance Egyptian "(Sellenick) by Jane and Alice Leighton; "Gypsy Tambourine" (Le Cid) by Harriet Northfoss; "The Water Lily" (Boisdeffre) by Viola Tone; "Chinoise" (Kelby) by Alva Hadselle.

In part two will be "Gavotte Charmonte" (Gossec) by Betty Phillips; "Eccentric Dance" (Lemont) (by request), by Margaret Ege; "Lyric Greek (Ziehrer) by Jane and Alice Leighton; "Valse Arabesque" (Glazounow) by Jean McLane; "Escapade of the Cottontail" (Manuscript) by Harriet Northfoss; "At the Hunt" (Tobani) by Dorothy Ege; "Valse Argonaise" (Thome), by Miss Marcella Webb.

Part three will include "Queen of the Snowflakes" (Chopin) by Margaret Ege; "Nadja" (Moret) by Barbara Jane Chandler; "Pollichenelle" (Kreisler) by Eveline Nair; "Siamese Grotesque" (Juon) by Dorothy Ege; "Russian Carnival Dance" (Dvorak) by Miss Marcella Webb.

The climax of this delightful program will be "The Jewel Ballet" (Meyer Helmund and Thome), a dancing sketch, for which a special stage setting is arranged. The huge jewel box was secured through the courtesy of Mr. Northfoss of the Lasky studios in Hollywood. The box has been used in several film productions.

The story of the sketch is, the queen, weary of the monotony of court, divests herself of her jewels, and demands her jester's entertainment. A fairy from a nearby woods, disguised as a traveler, knocks at the gate and asks for food, which the queen gives. The fairy, seeing the queen's willing kindness, consents to grant any wish that she may ask. The queen, a great admirer of her jewels, desires that they may come to life. Whereupon a gay dance and festival is held.

Appearing in "The Jewel Ballet" will be, Dorothy Ege, the queen; Betty Phillips and Mary Susan Brown, maids of honor; Jane Leighton, court jester; Barbara Jane Chandler, torch bearer; Eveline Gillette, good fairy; Harriet Northfoss, ruby; Margaret Ege, emerald; Jean McLane, topaz; Alice Leighton, diamond; Alva Hadselle, pearl; Viola Tone, gold; Kathryn Loose, silver.

Mrs. Vivian Webb will serve as accompanist.

YOUR BETTER SELF—
Is usually the last to get a fair hearing.
Is your mother's reason for believing in you.
Is worth too much to be sold out.
Never entirely deserts you.
Tells you more truth than any friend does.
Sometimes lives through a lot of neglect.
Always encourages you in your honest efforts.

POWER OF THE BALLOT

Miss Belle Sherwin, newly elected national president of the League of Women Voters, makes a statement that should compel all non-voters, both men and women, to stop and think. She says, "Bad men are elected to office by good women who do not vote." The ballot, after all, is the citizen's only hold upon the government, and those who excuse themselves for neglecting its use by saying that it is not effectual in bringing about the reforms they desire may wake up to the fact that in not using it they have helped to elect the undesirable candidate and aided evil in further entrenching itself.

There are those who contend that it matters little whether there is a small vote or a heavy vote, for people average up about the same, they say, and the result will be the same no matter how large or small the vote. But the psychological effect of a large vote, or a small one, is not to be ignored, and Miss Sherwin brings out the point that a small vote can be manipulated, while a large vote is beyond the power of bosses to control.

In urging women to vote she goes on to say, "Women will count for little politically as long as they do not vote. Politicians will pay them idle compliments, nominate a few of them for office here and there, but until a majority of the women vote, the great things women wish to see done will remain undone.

"Any woman's vote may be the one which determines whether schools are good, laws for women are passed or taxes for the county made just. For politics isn't merely something they do down in Washington. It's something they do right here in our home town—to our taxes, our schools, our streets, our rents and the cost of our food."

HONOR SYSTEM IN PRISONS

The system adopted a year ago in California of working state convicts on the roads and paying them wages (when they are freed) has been watched by those interested in prison reform everywhere, and since the successful completion of the first year of the experiment many favorable comments are heard.

The thought is that it is better for the state and for the convict to convert him into a safe and productive citizen rather than to keep him confined in prison where the product of his labor comes into competition with free labor, to the detriment of the latter; that by this method the state may rebuild its roads and at the same time rebuild its men.

During the past year 600 men have been employed in road camps with but twelve guards, most of them unarmed. Yet less than two per cent of the total have attempted to escape. Some of the men have as much as $250 credited to them to be drawn when their terms expire. This is in addition to the money sent to their families. They are also given three days' credit on their sentence for every two days they work, and this together with the wages they receive tends to make them observe the honor principle which gives them so much liberty.

The honor system which has been adopted in a number of states is based on the principle that there is left in the soul of every man a degree of manhood and aspiration for better things, and that when this is appealed to by placing him on his honor his better self is aroused. Under this system men have gone out from prisons with their faith in human nature intact, where under the old, brutal system they would have become confirmed criminals. It is claimed that the system, in the short time it has been in force in California, has resulted in sending prisoners back to free life with restored self-respect and trained to industrious habits.

THE ORIENTAL QUESTION

The West Coast of Mexico has been thrown open to Japanese immigration, through treaty, and it is predicted that within a few years 200,000 Japanese will have settled there. It is said that passenger steamers plying between the United States and Japan are being withdrawn because of lack of business since the exclusion law went into effect. To some this indicates that the former gentlemen's agreement did not restrict immigration as effectively as it was claimed. But with the opening of Mexico to the Japanese they will gain the foothold on the American continent they have so long wished for.

Claiming that Japan was looking to the future in her successful demand before the League of Nations for a protocol that will enable her at any time to bring our exclusion law into judgment by the other nations, the San Bernardino Sun says, "Suppose half a century from now Japanese population in Mexico shall have largely increased and a question of Mexican control over them comes up, would not Japan be in a position to say to Mexico that her control over foreigners living within her boundaries was not a domestic matter? Half a century is going to make a great change in the relations of nations to each other and their natural alignment. If before the end of that period the nations shall not have practically destroyed each other in war, there may have been created an oriental question on the American hemisphere that will be hard to solve, and we are wise in that we are seeking to have it solved elsewhere than within the territory of the United States.

MOTOR TRANSPORTATION GROWING

Those who predict that the motor bus will eventually entirely replace the street car have some grounds for their contention. The Pacific Electric has discontinued its local service in Pomona, where the street cars have been replaced by busses. And now the company is petitioning to remove all its lines in Riverside. Glendale and many other cities in Southern California depend entirely upon motor buses for local service and the big interurban motor stages are common upon nearly all the highways of California. In Los Angeles, both the red and yellow lines supplement their services with buses.

Motor transportaton, at its best, cannot be as comfortable as the street cars and the wear and tear on the highways must be considered when comparing the two methods of travel. But the buses have the advantage of being less expensive in first cost, in maintenance and operation and they can more easily serve a larger territory.

It may be that the city of the future will entirely lack the disfigurement of trolley poles and street car tracks.

Many a bright future has been dimmed by dull care.

Ever notice how often the arbiter is bitten?

"I'M GOING A-MILKING, SIR," SHE SAID

The Best Amusement

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The best form of amusement is not found by going forward in complexity and invention, but by going backward to simplicity.

The nearer a thing comes to being primitive, and the farther an act reaches back into antiquity, the more diverting it is apt to be.

People like baseball because, many thousand years ago, their ancestors ran from their enemies, or swatted them with branches broken from trees, or threw stones at them. This running, striking and throwing is what constitutes the game of baseball, and these three acts reach back to such a time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

May Peterson, former Metropolitan opera singer, was married last June to a wealthy Texas colonel, who was also a member of the American Legion. At the recent convention held in St. Paul, May headed the Texas delegation as she rode upon an old grey mare.

She declared that it was her intention to ride to Texas on the beast.

"The pioneer brides of Texas took their honeymoons in prairie schooners," she said. "I will go them one better. I never rode before, but I am game."

We predict that the charming May will find more fun in this trip than she has ever found in Broadway cafes or Paris entertainments.

She will be going back to nature and will uncover a thousand little pleasures in doing so that the members of the high life of society have forgotten. Many a bored member of the smart set would be rejuvenated if he could mount an old grey mare and ride out of his environment back to nature.

We cannot run away from the human race or escape our instincts. We cannot be wholly artificial, even if we want to. Nature draws us back.

And in the arms of Nature are usually found more kinds of genuine pleasure than are found anywhere else.

If there is any room on the back of Miss Peterson's old grey mare, we would like to apply for the place.

Horoscope

Fair fortunes smile on mortals today, according to astrology. Jupiter, Venus, and Neptune are all in benefic aspect while Uranus alone is adverse.

Under this planetary government all progressive activities should be stimulated. It is a lucky date for starting new enterprises.

Bankers should find this rule most fortunate for their most ambitious projects and they are to be widely involved in foreign affairs, because of unlooked for crisis in Europe and the Orient.

Blessings are forecast for those who wed today, for they have the happy augury of lasting love and material prosperity.

Theaters again are subject to the most brilliant promise and openings of new plays today should be particularly auspicious.

Women are subject to much better influences than they have been in recent months. They should succeed in business and in political ambitions.

Once more oil and oil interests come under the best possible direction of the stars. It is forecast that great consumption of gasoline will be made necessary by national emergencies.

Hotel keepers and all who cater to the needs of the people should profit in an extraordinary manner in the next month.

Restlessness and discontent may manifest itself in much changing of location and removals from private homes.

Serious floods in the south of Europe may mark the early winter. Much suffering will be endured by the poor in many places.

Scandals in which public men are involved will be uncovered at this time, owing to the influence of Neptune, it is predicted.

The death of a king or ruler is prophesied for next month.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect rather a happy and prosperous year. Girls should be cautious in making new friends.

Children born on this day probably will have very eventful careers. These subjects of Scorpio usually meet much opposition, which they easily overcome in gaining success and wealth. Girls may be inclined to marry old men.

Today's Poem

TIMES GO BY TURNS

The lopped tree in time may grow again.
Most naked plants renew both fruit and flower;
The sorriest wight may find relief from pain,
The driest soil suck in some moistening shower;
Time goes by turns, and chances change by course,
From foul to fair, from better hap to worse.

The sea of fortune doth not ever flow;
She draws her favors to the lowest ebb;
Her tides have equal times to come and go;
Her loom doth weave the fine and coarsest web;
No joy so great but runneth to an end,
No hap so hard but may in fine amend.

Not always fall of leaf, nor ever spring;
Not endless night, yet not eternal day;
The saddest birds a season find to sing;
The roughest storm a calm may soon allay.
Thus, with succeeding turns God tempereth all,
That man may hope to rise, yet fear to fall.

A chance may win that by mischance was lost;
That net that holds no great takes little fish;
In some things all, in all things none are crost;
Few all they need, but none have all they wish.
Unmingled joys here to no man befall;
Who least, hath some; who most, hath never all.

—Robert Southwell.

Who's Who

Youngest general officer of the whole army of the United States responsible for all plans and training for combined armies of the country. This is the distinction which attaches to Brigadier General Hugh A. Drum. He celebrated his 45th birthday recently.

General Drum comes from a long line of fighting men, extending through several generations. His father, Capt. John Drum of the 10th United States infantry, was killed leading a charge in the battle of San Juan Hill, Cuba, in '98. He was the first oficer killed in that battle.

Entering the army at the age of 20 as a second lieutenant, honors have come to General Drum rapidly and apparently easily.

From 1899 to 1901 he served in the Philippine Islands participating in the P. I. Insurrection. From 1912 to 1914 he was active on the Mexican border. Later he served as assistant instructor in military art at army schools and subsequently was aide to General Funston until the latter's death, February 19, 1917.

When General Pershing succeeded General Funston, General Drum became assistant to the chief of staff and in that capacity accompanied General Pershing to France. The following year General Drum was appointed chief of staff of the first American army fighting on the western front. Although but a lieutenant colonel, he held a post usually assigned to a full major general.

About two years ago the army was without a textbook on higher command which incorporated the lessons that had been learned from the World war. The general staff called on Colonel Drum who in less than a month had struck off the government presses two volumes printed in short pamphlet form which now constitute the standard text for the war college in Washington and all officers throughout the American army.

A few of the honors which have been conferred upon him are the Distinguished Service Medal from his own country, the Order of the Crown of Belgium, Commander of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre and Commander of the Crown of Italy.

Rent of modern apartments is as low as $15 a month in Buenos Aires.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

The campaign of 1900 was again a struggle between Bryan and McKinley; between the advocates of "free silver" and the advocates of the gold standard, with many other parties in the field representing almost every conceivable idea of governmental policy. Theodore Roosevelt was nominated by the Republicans for vice president. The story of Roosevelt's nomination has been so often told, the event is so recent, that it is needless to dwell on it. Roosevelt himself considered that he had been "shelved" and it is certain that there were Republican elements in New York which did not view with complacency his political activities in that state. He wrote to a friend that he did not expect to go any further politically; rather wondered that one who was in the habit of "expressing himself so loudly—and not always wisely—on so many different subjects had gone so far." He looked forward to resuming the study of law and entering into active practice as an attorney.

The Democrats nominated Bryan enthusiastically and gave him Adlai E. Stevenson, vice president under Cleveland, for his running mate. John G. Wooley of Illinois and Henry B. Metcalf of Rhode Island, were the nominees of the Prohibition party; the "Social Democrats of America" nominated Eugene V. Debs of Indiana and Job Harriman of California, and the "Social Democratic party of the United States" Job Harriman and Max Hayes—the latter of Ohio. The People's party endorsed Bryan. The Middle of the Road Populists, who had split with the People's party, nominated Wharton Barker of Pennsylvania for president and for vice president Ignatius Donnelley, the father of the "Baconian Theory" of Shakespeare. The Socialist-Labor party put up Joseph F. Malloney of Massachusetts and Valentine Remmel of Pennsylvania; the Union Reform party Seth Ellis of Ohio and Sam T. Nicholson of Pennsylvania, and the United Christian party J. F. R. Leonard of Iowa for president and John G. Woolley—who was nominee for president on the Prohibition ticket—for vice-president with a plank in the platform demanding the abolition of cigarets. The Silver Republican party met in convention and endorsed Bryan and Stevenson.

A man was pretty hard to suit who could not find some ticket and platform to his liking. At election McKinley received of the popular vote, 7,207,923; Brayn, 6,358,133; Woolley, 208,915; Debs, 87,814; Barker, 50,373; Malloney, 39,739; Ellis, 5,698, and Leonard, 1,059. Of the electoral votes McKinley had 292 to Bryan's 155.

'DIVINE GUIDANCE' TAKEN AS THEME

Pastor First Congregational Church Points Its Effect On States, Nations

Rev. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church, spoke yesterday on "Divine Guidance." He said:

"Science has proven that every life is under divine guidance. There is a power in the world that makes not only for righteousness, but, also, for unity, order and beauty. This is the genius of all progress, that everything is on the march upward and onward. The proof of divine guidance may be found in all life, vegetable and animal.

"Each May the strawberry mixes its flavor by a chemical formula. The violet is an humble blossom, but its perfume is exquisitely planned. Each variety of apples and grapes has its own divine recipe. Every atom in the strawberry, the apple and the rose is guided. Everything is God-born. Life is more than a fortuitous concourse of atoms. It is a divine plan. It goes upward in accordance with God's laws of progress.

Faith in God

"Divine guidance may be seen in states and nations. Those who have obeyed God's law have succeeded and those who disobeyed have perished. Divine guidance appears in the careers of great men. The extraordinary man is the ordinary man written in large capital letters.

"Faith in God always makes men brave. It explains the great deeds of history. You cannot defeat a man who is working with God. Men are not under their own guidance, they are not self-made, they are God-made. Man may be the architect of his own fortune, but God furnishes the materials. Our times, our gifts, our powers are all in God's hands.

'Taking If Out of Life' Is Heard In Sermon

Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian church, spoke on "Taking the "if' Out of Life." A recent bank advertisement called his attention to the "if" in life. He said:

"Eternal life is the free gift of God, but in order to come into full possession there are certain conditions that must be met. In other words man must actually receive that which is offered or he does not come into possession. God has put the 'if' in life and it is not the case of 'what God hath joined together let no man put asunder,' but He expects us to get rid of the 'if.' Here are a few of God's 'ifs': 'If any man will open the door I will come in.' 'If ye ask for anything in my name I will do it.'

"The way to get rid of the 'if' is through these five processes—faith, repentance, justification, adoption and sanctification. Getting rid of the uncertainty of salvation is like coming out from a horrible nightmare to awaken and find yourself safe. No more 'ifs' but life and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost is ours."

Dr. Funk Sermonizes On 'Peace Before God'

"How May a Man Have Peace and be Just Before God?" was the subject chosen by Dr. H. C. Funk for his discourse yesterday morning at the services of the First Lutheran church, 233 South Kenwood street. Special music included the singing of "Luther's Battle Hymn" by the congregation and "He Leadeth Me" sung by the choir.

Angelus Park Church Holds Special Service

Special services were held at Angelus Park Christian church during the past week, the first meeting October 19. Services yesterday were in charge of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Utter. Morning worship was held at 11 o'clock. The special services will continue this week, closing with Dedication Day services Sunday.

Evangelical Lutherans Hear Rev. H. C. Kringle

Rev. Henry C. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran (Missouri Synod) preached the morning sermon at 10 o'clock taking as the gospel lesson Matthew Palsy," epistle reading Ephesians 4:22-28 "Exhortation to Holiness." Holy communion was held at 9:30 o'clock, and the Sunday school and Bible classes met at 9 o'clock.

New Pastor Speaks At Free Methodist Church

Rev. H. C. Graves, new pastor of the Free Methodist church filled the pulpit at the second Sunday service held since the opening of the church. Rev. Graves preached at the opening last Sunday. Revival services were held at the church during the past week and will continue this week.

Sales of toys "made in Germany" are decreasing in number and value.

SCHOOL PLANS TO DEDICATE ANNEX

Pacific Avenue Methodists Will Open New Addition Next Sunday

Dedication of the new Sunday school annex at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church will take place Sunday, November 2, with an appropriate program. Service will be held at 9:45 o'clock, preceding the Sunday school classes. Re-opening day will be observed the following Sunday, November 9, with an allday meeting.

Dr. Walter Buckner, superintendent of the Pasadena district, will deliver the main address in the morning. Luncheon will be served and the afternoon meeting at 3 o'clock will be in charge of local pastors. A platform meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., when all former pastors of the church will speak.

Rev. Kemp Sermonizes On 'All Saints' Day'

"All Saints' Day" was the subject chosen by Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church for his sermon delivered at the church services yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Kemp stated that All Saint's Day would be observed next Saturday, Nov. 1, and as one of the great church days of the year we must remember the myriad of saintly lives consecrated for the Lord Jesus Christ. In his discourse, Rev. Kemp said that All Saints Day symbolizes the glorious confession of our belief in the communion of saints that not merely a few choice souls have the right to be called saints but all who have lived the true and Christian life. "All Saints' Day gives us the privilege of choosing those whom we wish to especially remember; the great and the lesser who have worked for the good of humanity," said Rev. Kemp.

United Brethren Hear Rev. Spencer Preach

Members of the congregation of the United Brethren in Christ met at their house of worship, corner of Justin avenue and Fifth street, yesterday morning for the usual service. Rev. J. M. Spencer delivered the sermon at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor services were held at 6:30 o'clock followed by evening service.

'Art Of Fellowship' Is Rev. Nelson's Sermon

"Art of Fellowship" was the subject discussed by Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor of the Atwater Park Baptist church, corner of Perkita and Tyburn street at morning worship yesterday. Special musical selections were rendered at morning and evening service.

Young People's Society Has Interesting Meet

Young People's Society of St. Mark's Episcopal church met last night at 6 o'clock with Miss Charlotte Siedel in charge of the program. The meeting was conducted by Harold Phelan, president of the class. R. Ernest Tucker, director of community service gave a most interesting talk.

Church of Jesus Christ Holds Priesthood Meet

The Church of Jesus Christ (Latter Day Saints) held the priesthood meeting at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, followed by Sunday school at 10:30 o'clock. Meetings of the Women's Relief Society are held each Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

'Probation After Death' Christian Science Topic

"Probation After Death," was the topic for Christian Science services yesterday morning at the church, corner North Maryland and East California avenues. Testimonial services are held each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

People of Europe are said to eat less meat now than before the war.

NEW PASTOR IS GIVEN WELCOME

Rev. Johnson Takes Pulpit In Broadway Methodist Church First Time

The congregation of the Broadway Methodist church heard for the first time, yesterday, their new pastor, Rev. M. M. Johnson, who delivered two exceptionally strong sermons. "Jealousy, Godly or Ungodly" was the theme for the morning discourse. Using the incident of David and Goliath as recorded in First Samuel, chapter 17, Rev. Johnson compared the Godly jealousy of David to the ungodly jealousy of Goliath much to the disadvantage of the latter.

He described the scene of the barefoot shepherd boy in a victorious conflict with the heathen giant armed with spear and sword, his body protected by armor, while David was armed with but a sling and stones. The contrast looked absurd, but Goliath was killed and the army of the Phillistines beaten.

Evening Sermon

"Hidden Springs" was the theme of the evening sermon and the audience held by the eloquence of the speaker. The attendance at Sunday School was the largest in the history of the church. Four new members joined the church. Epworth league was led by Paul Ford.

Christian Endeavorers Hear Talking Program

"Why is law enforcement vital to our Nation," was the subject discussed at the weekly meeting of the Senior Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church, last night The meeting, attended by more than seventy young people of high school age, was conducted by James Littell as leader. Christian Endeavor orchestra played. Harold Jones and Paul Edmonds were heard in a bass duet. Howard L. Brown, society superintendent, introduced Andrew Johnson of Christian Endeavor work, who spoke on the Bible.

Executive committee and Lookout and Prayer meeting departments met and planned work for the society. The boys' chorus will meet for rehearsal tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, at the church. The monthly business meeting of the society will be held Friday night, November 7, at 7:30 p. m. o'clock.

Rev. Scheideman Takes 'Paul to Romans' Text

Rev. Henry A. Scheideman of the Nazarene church, took as his text yesterday afternoon the twenty-eighth verse of the eighth chapter of Paul's letter to the Romans, "We know that all things work together for good to those that love God." He said:

"The apostle Paul knew what he was talking about. I want to use three Bible characters to prove the truth of this statement. First I'll call your attention to Joseph, who passed through many trials, but the hand of God was on him for good. Next we take Job, who the Bible tells us stood every test that the devil put to him. God honored Job for his faithfulness. Then there was Paul, a learned man and a man of great wisdom. He too suffered many trials and hardships, all for Jesus' sake." At the night service Mr. Scheideman preached on "Sin."

'Wrestling With God' Is Rev. Ford's Sermon

Rev. Ernest E. Ford at the First Baptist church yesterday morning took as his theme, "Wrestling With God." It was the third in the series of "Prayer." The text was taken from Genesis 32:24: "And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of day." He said: "Prayer is hindered in three different ways: First, connection is broken between God and the one who tries to pray; second, things in us which delay or diminish the answer; third, things outside us which get in between. The wrestling match between Jacob and God, Jacob lost, and won. He lost the match, but he won the favor of God.

Rev. G. L. Durr Speaks At Montrose Methodist

Rev. George L. Durr had charge of the morning services at the Montrose and Orangedale avenues. Morning worship was held at 11 o'clock, Rev. Durr delivering the sermon.

Rev. Mrs. Moore Talks To Occult Scientists

Rev. Mrs. Mabel Moore delivered the sermon at the Occult Science of Christ church last night, the healing service preceding the sermon.

APPLICATION OF PRAYER IS THEME

Rev. Chrisman Gives Gospel Tabernacle Congregation Seven Elements

Rev. C. H. Chrisman, pastor of the Gospel tabernacle, delivered a sermon on "Prayer Life of Elijah" at the services held yesterday morning, taking as his text "He Prayed a Prayer," the marginal reading of James 5-17. The words are spoken of Elijah, the prophet, concerning his supplication on Mt. Carmel, when he asked God to send rain.

Rev. Chrisman touched on the seven principles of prayer, explaining the meaning of each principle as applied to Elijah. They were:

Seven Elements

Element of promise, "I will send rain upon the earth"; element of definiteness, Elijah prayed for one thing—rain; element of intensity, he prayed a prayer; element of humility; element of expectancy, he sent his servant seven different times to look for a cloud; element of persistency, the servant reported six times that there was nothing in sight; element of inspiration, he heard in his soul a "sound" of an abundance of rain.

Rev. Chrisman said if these principles were applied we, too, might be successful in obtaining things from God.

High Mass Sung At Holy Family Catholic Church

High mass was sung at the Holy Family church at 11 o'clock yesterday morning with vespers at 7:30 P. M. Rev. Michael Galvin is parish priest, and Rev. John O'Donnell and Rev. Lynch are assistants.

EXHIBIT DE LUXE CARS OF S. P. HERE

Finest Train In Service at New Glendale Station More Than Hour

Hair bobbed while you ride; shaved as you travel between Glendale and El Paso; a bath as you pass swiftly over the desert plains—these are some of the features of the Sunset Limited, the Southern Pacific's new de luxe train between San Francisco and New Orleans, and which was officially welcomed and inspected at the Glendale Southern Pacific station Saturday afternoon between 4:30 and 5:45 o'clock.

The new train is said to be the finest in the United States, and will make its initial run from San Francisco on the morning of November 1 and from Los Angeles on November 2. Everything about the train is new—brand new engines, the most efficient in the world, say railroad men; oil burners, no smoke, dust or cinders; the club cars will be equipped with the latest conveniences—men's shower baths, barber, valet service and many other things to lighten the hardships of travel.

Pullman cars are said to be unique in service and modern devices for comfort; observation sleepers have drawing rooms, compartments, ladies' lounge, ladies' bath and maid in attendance. These, and many other things, were seen by Glendalians Saturday afternoon.

Official Welcome

The Chamber of Commerce directors officially welcomed the train and met at the Chamber of Commerce offices at 4:15 o'clock, proceeding from there to the station in a body. The Masonic lodge also inspected the train in a body. The visit of the train to Glendale was also announced in the city schools and delegations of pupils and children were among the visitors, as well as committees of merchants.

The Sunset Limited will break all records between San Francisco and New Orleans, making the trip in 49 hours and 20 minutes. It will leave San Francisco at 6 p. m., arrive in Glendale about 8 o'clock the following morning, leave Los Angeles 9 a. m., arrive in El Paso at 9:40 o'clock the next morning and arrive at New Orleans at 7:35 o'clock that night.

The reception committee for the Southern Pacific company was composed of H. L. Legrand, general agent; W. H. Bowers, assistant agent, and J. C. Sams, ticket agent.

ADVENTISTS HEAR OF AFRICAN WORK

Rev. Branson Tells Audience About 'Dark Continent' And Its People

To an audience which filled the Seventh-day Adventist church on North Isabel St., Rev. W. H. Branson, Adventist superintendent of evangelistic work in Africa, spoke last night on recent experiences of himself and his fellow workers in the "dark continent."

"We do not find many Scripture texts which speak of Africa," Rev. Branson said; "but we do find a few, and one that has been of great comfort to the African missionary is Ps. 68:31: "Princess shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopa shall soon stretch out her hands unto God." This verse has been literally fulfilled in the last few years. In a marvelous manner God is working for the people of that country. We have today 9690 believers in the African field; and during the last three and a half years we have gained as much as we did in 35 years before.

School Membership

"Our Sabbath school membership numbers over 12,000. When one of our missionaries enters a new field he first starts a day school, and later a Sabbath school. We have 10,000 native young people training in our Sabbath schools and these make much better work-interesting experience. We have would be, because they understand their own people so much better. Some of these native evangelists are bringing from 100 to 300 people into the church every year.

"We have camp meetings in that country, and to be present at one of them is a most intensely ers for that field than Europeans more people present at some of our African camp meetings than you ever see at camp meeting in California. At our last camp meeting in Nyssaland 3600 were on the ground, and they had come hundreds of miles. Natives come to camp meeting in companies, each forming a column with their leader at its head, and singing every step of the way. I never saw a more inspiring sight."

There were only five lynchings in this country in the first six months of this year.

HOME GAS BLAST IS MYSTERY CASE

Investigation Tells Nothing To Solve Explosion That Wrecked Stucco Home

The mystery explosion that Saturday night wrecked the Albert Rook home at the southwest corner of Kenilworth avenue and South street still is puzzling investigators. What caused the gas to ignite and blow apart this stucco building like a bursting bomb may never be known.

The following report was rendered to Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department this morning by J. V. Mercer and R. Baugh, motorcycle officers on duty at the time the crash came.

"While patrolling the highway we heard the report of the explosion at Kenilworth avenue and South street. When we arrived at the scene, approximately three minutes later, the first thing we noticed was the dirt bubbling up like lava between the sidedalk and the house, where the gas pipe would be. The gas meter, which was under the northeast corner of the house, was badly disfigured, the dials blow off and fire shooting out of the pipe.

Further Investigation

"After the fire was out we went into the house. Pilots on the gas stove had not been turned on. A representative of the Southern Califonria Gas Co. came on the scene to take out the meter and we told him to leave it alone. Acting Fire Chief Ralph Dodsworth also gave instructions to leave everything as it was until the owner of the house came.

"Later we found this meter had been removed. A ditcher working there Friday afternoon had broken the feed pipe off the main line between the house and the gas main and it looks as if that was the cause of the explosion."

S. C. Singer, division manager of the Southern California Gas Co., 126 North Maryland avenue, stated that the meter is being held at his office.

Merchants and Citizens have reciprocal responsibility in Community Building

The merchants of a Community have much to do with Community growth. They are the first ones called upon to promote development in any line, if indeed they are not the leaders. It has come to the point that when a man opens a store or an office for the carrying on of his calling he becomes, ex-officio, a public character endued with certain responsibilities and duties. He is expected to give his time and his money for civic improvements and development, in fact, for any cause in which the public or any part of the public is interested.

The merchant contributes to this or that cause when, more often than not, he knows he will never see any direct benefit accrue to himself or his business as a result of this contribution.

Of course, the merchant knows that what will promote Community growth will help his business, and he gladly boosts civic improvements even though he knows he will never see any direct returns. The question is, does Mr. Average Citizen realize that what helps the merchant helps the city? The patronage he gives the merchant helps the merchant to grow and expand, although the merchant does not say to the citizen, "I am enlarging my store and this piece of lumber and that bit of plastering represent the profits on the merchandise I sold you last year." But a growing business means a bigger and a better town and the citizen who helps the merchant to grow is encouraging Community Development.

The citizen and the merchant are sharing the responsibilities of Community growth. Glendale merchants and Glendale citizens are sufficiently wide-awake to know that they must reciprocate in the work of Community development. The merchant can't succeed without the help of Mr. Average Citizen and the city cannot continue to advance as Mr. Average Citizen would like to see it advance without wide-awake merchants and a fine business center.

Glendale has grown out of the small-town class. The merchants are asking co-operation in Community development and Mr. Average Citizen is giving it wholeheartedly, proud to do his share in building the fastest growing city in America.

Elks Will Break Ground For $2,000,000 Home

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Elks of Southern California will join with brother Elks of Los Angeles lodge, No. 99, in ground breaking ceremonies at Sixth and Park View streets, Wednesday night, when George M. Breslin, exalted ruler, will turn the first spadeful of earth for their new $2,000,000 home.

Dentist Busy Treating Teeth of Desert Indian

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 27.—Your Uncle Sam now is caring for the aching teeth of the aboriginal residents of the great American desert. Dr. J. Lanahan, dentist on the Pala reservation, was in Riverside over the week-end to see the Sherman Indian institute eleven play football, and reported that he is kept busy pulling teeth.

Texas Rice Crop Aided By Weather Conditions

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 27.—The condition of the Texas rice crop is reported 87 per cent of normal with a probable yield of 5,565,000 bushels. Good weather has prevailed and threshing is progressing rapidly.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Oct. 27.—The offices of the building, electrical and plumbing inspectors are to be moved to the room that was formerly the council chamber of the local City Hall on Colorado boulevard, in the days when Eagle Rock was an independent city. this change is to make room for the greatly enlarged police department, which under Captain J. J. Mart now numbers forty-five men.

The chairs in the council chamber are to be removed, states Captain Mart. The first plan considered was to remove them to the police school, but a suggestion has been made that the department of public works have them removed to the assembly room at the Public Library branch here, so that this room can be used for Chamber of Commerce and other public meetings.

The Community Players presented "Green Stockings" again on Saturday night, at the Eagle Rock school, with the following cast: Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, director, in the role of Celia who shunned the green hose; Frederick Beach, opposite Mrs. Fisher; Grace Miltenberger, Edmond Brady, Stella B. Quackenbos, Sidney Smith, J. B. Mudson, Royal Osterhout, Lillie Swenson, Bernice Colton, Howard Rasch and R. L. Sutton.

Harry Church and Fay Smith have returned from a deer hunt on the Oregon border, bringing with them the head and venison of one large buck. They also brought down a smaller buck, which served as fresh meat for themselves and neighboring ranchmen. Proceeding to Medford, Ore., they doubled into California and hunted in the wilderness back of Yreka and Jacksonville. The weather was cold, with six inches of snow on the ground. They made camp with a foot of cedar boughs and hay under their tarpaulin, they state, cooked and kept warm by a huge fire in front of their tent door.

Miss Elsie Thompson, of Occidental college, has been elected secretary of the Women's Forensic league of Southern California. Miss Helen Jackson, of the University of California, Los Angeles, is president of this organization.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Oct. 27.—The proposal to widen San Fernando boulevard its entire length length through this city and as far as Saugus is taking shape, and to further this project a meeting will be held at the Roscoe schoolhouse at 8 o'clock tonight, it is announced. Glendale and Los Angeles are already at work on plans to widen this boulevard through their city limits, according to O. J. Renfrew, secretary of the Greater San Fernando valley association.

Pupils of the Abraham Lincoln school are responsible for an innovation in the way of a play tournament, to be given on the school grounds Tuesday afternoon, October 28, from 1:45 to 2:30 o'clock.

This is the initial step toward establishing a community center for the district and it is hoped that a large number of adults, not only of the district but of the entire city, will accept the cordial invitation to be present.

Burbank now has 3791 registrations, according to the Los Angeles county registrar of voters. This is nearly double the 2127 registrations in 1922. Taking this figure of 3791 registered voters in the city at the present time, and multiplying it by three and one-half, the number used by the county registrar in figuring population, and Burbank would be seen to have approximately 13,268 people living within its city limits, it is pointed out by Manager J. W. Charleville of the local Chamber of Commerce.

L. W. Hamner, of Burbank, deputy under district attorney Asa Keyes, has been recently honored by an appointment as head of the complaint department. In this position he has ten men under his immediate supervision.

COMMENT by GILA. COWAN

Have you seen the P. E. chicken ranch? No, the Pacific Eleceric doesn't own it. It is the property of Prince Erik of Sweden, erstwhile resident of Arcadia, suburb of Pasadena.

The house and chicken houses and everything around the place are painted pink, while blue shutters keep prying eyes from spying on the prince in his little love nest out in the west.

Neighbors are quite intrigued by the prince. He is an industrious and active young fellow who seems to be taking seriously the importance of the poultry business.

And, who wouldn't, with eggs literally "out of sight!"

There are many who would be willing to pay more than a nickel an egg if it bore the royal insignia, methinks.

Another golf course close to Glendale will be known as the Lakeside, lying just across the Los Angeles river from Burbank and Glendale's westerly city limits.

With Oakmont, Flintridge, Griffith Park, Annandale and others within fifteen minutes' motor ride, there should be no reason of any cessation in golfitis here.

Once upon a time, and it wasn't so many years ago, the writer stood at the principal intersection of Glendale and counted the number of passing motor cars in order to tell what an important center this fast growing city had become.

Now try to count 'em any Saturday afternoon or Sunday and you will get dizzy, if you don't get run over.

Traffic actually is becoming congested on such broad boulevards as Brand and Colorado.

And the widening of Glendale boulevard into Los Angeles is imperative if this city's development is not to be throttled.

Those who inspected the new Southern Pacific Sunset Limited at the $100,000 Glendale station Saturday afternoon could not help but marvel at the progress made in transportation.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Oct. 27.—"Vote no matter for whom you vote, get to the polls on November 4, and do your duty as an American citizen." This was the message Judge D. B. Reiter of the Washington court delivered to residents of La Crescenta valley, La Canada and Tujunga Friday night at the Republican rally held in La Crescenta school building.

In speaking of "Hell and Maria" Dawes, Judge Reiter said: "In the past three years there have been three big world jobs and Dawes did them. These jobs helped to win the war. It was he who saw to the transportation of supplies as well as the purchasing of them; establishing the budget system and every good business man knows that is needed in any business and it is the Dawes reparation plan that is bringing Europe out of chaos. Brigadier Dawes is the man who supervised work attendant on all three world plans."

Speaking of the American people's apathy to vote Mr. Reiter stated that in 1896 80 per cent of the voting populace went to the polls, in 1900 75 per cent, 1908 68 per cent, and 1920 less than 50 per cent voted.

"During the war," he continued, "we had slackers and every one despised a slacker; how much more should we despise the man who refuses to do his duty in the most important thing of all, electing a president, the man who controls the reins of the government."

Giving further statistics Judge Reiter said: "In the last primaries in Los Angeles county where there are 573,263 registered voters only 212,000 went to the polls and you must realize that the primaries decide the men through whom we elect our president."

Since the Republican party went into power with the election of Warren G. Harding, Judge Reiter showed how extravagant expenditures of the previous administration had been drastically cut; how the national debt had been decreased nearly $3,000,000,000; and how taxation had been decreased.

Speaking of the La Follette policy the speaker asked the audience to remember that in Russia 6000 doctors were put to death as were 312,000 of the inteligencia and 815,000 laboring men who would not subscribe to the Bolshevik rule. Matters, he told his audience, could quickly reach that stage in this country were we not careful whom we put into power. Judge Reiter asked voters of this district to remember, when they went to the polls, who it was put the protective tariff on California citrus fruits.

Other speakers were Mrs. Viole Waddell of Glendale. Mrs. Waddell gave interesting data on candidates for presidential and vice presidential offices. She said: "In voting women of this country put the principal before the party. We must bring politics into the home of the busy housewife not take her from her home. We must teach Americanism first and always, not let the masses of immigrants huddle down in New York, but teach them how to live as we live and their duty as citizens of this country. How can we teach them if we do not do these things ourselves?"

In reference to Mr. Dawes, Mrs. Waddell asked the assembly not to think of him only as a hard-headed business man but as a man "so big and full of all interest that he could compose beautiful symphonies." She requested everyone to go to the polls and to see that their neighbors went also.

Mark S. Collins chairman of the evening, then introduced Wallace Morgan of Tujunga, who gave a short talk concluding with the introduction of Colonel Frederick Ashby of Tujunga a former Democrat who gave his reasons for forsaking his party to vote the Republican ticket the coming election.

Principal among the numerous reasons the colonel gave was that he considered Calvin Coolidge of the same sturdy stock and ancestry as the great Abe Lincoln, for not considering the votes he would probably lose by not signing for the bonus bill, but having the courage of his conviction. That is the kind of man who should be at the helm of the nation's ship of state at this perilous time.

In opening the meeting Mr. Collins expressed the opinion that it was the most important election in years and that he believed that if Calvin Coolidge was not elected the country would see hard times. "Men who are now being employed," he said, "will be thown out of employment, banks will tighten up on their loans; in fact money will be mighty scare all round so I feel that in bringing to you tonight Judge Reiter of the Washington court he will be able to show you just how things are at the present time in regard to the coming election.

"America" was sung, Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald of Highway Highlands, playing the accompaniment. Mrs. D. R. Smith sang.

This was the only Republican rally to be held in the valley. The rally was arranged by Mr. Collins, chairman of the Republican committee of the La Crescenta valley.

Spindle Top Oil Co. Ordered to Drill Again

EL CENTRO, Oct. 27.—In extending the permit held by the Spindle Top Oil association, operating in the vicinity of the Salton sea, the general land office at Washington ruled it must begin drilling another well before June 30, 1925, according to information received at the local district land office. The first well now is 1950 feet deep with good indications, it is said.

Houston to Extend Rail Facilities on Channel

INDEX TO CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT

PAGE 6 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT on Page 6 of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Section will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

Put an End to the LAXATIVE HABIT by Taking "RED MIXTURE"

Are you one of many sufferers from chronic sluggishness of the bowels who shrinks from taking common laxatives for fear of contracting the habit? If so, rejoice, for there is now available a non-habit-forming Tonic Laxative, which for 20 years has been used in hospitals exclusively. It was originated by a prominent ex-army surgeon after years of experimenting.

RED MIXTURE offers almost miraculous relief for the sufferer from intestinal inactivity and torpor of the liver and kidneys because it eliminates the trouble and Builds up the System while so doing. RED MIXTURE does not weaken the digestive organs by violent irritation, but cleanses with a smooth, easy action that leaves a normal, healthful vigor. RED MIXTURE is not a purgative, but a real Tonic Laxative.

This remedy contains no narcotics. It can be administered to patients convalescing from abdominal operations or from severe bowel illness because of its non-irritating action and its thorough elimination of the lurking toxins of disease. RED MIXTURE relieves and strengthens without creating a necessity for the continued use of laxatives. RED MIXTURE proves particularly beneficial for expectant mothers, infants and children.

Are you subject to gaseous stomach, headache, nervousness, furred tongue or general depression caused by faulty elimination? RED MIXTURE will give you relief. Try a bottle. Comes in two sizes, 75c and $1.50. The 75c size is sufficient to prove efficiency. If your druggist cannot supply you at once, send his name and 75 cents to the Golden State Pharmacal Co., Long Beach, Calif., and we will see that you are supplied. Your money will be refunded promptly if after trying RED MIXTURE you are not satisfied.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER VII

"That 'cyclonic disturbance' is brewing, all right," the other assented. "We're in the thick of it at Nice. The day before yesterday we came almost to a deadlock over a question which Lutrecht persisted in raising and which we discussed for hours. I am going to treat you with a great deal of confidence, as I always have done, Grant. Years ago, when you were first secretary at your Embassy in London, and I was foreign minister, I discovered that you shared one conviction which has been at the root of the whole of my cabinet. That conviction is that the interests of Great Britain and the United States of America are inextricably and inevitably identical. I sha'n't dilate. There it is in plain words, the text of my political life, and because I know that you share it, I have treated you with a confidence I have not extended even to one of my own countrymen. I am now going beyond the limits of official propriety. I am going to tell you what the trouble has been at the last two meetings of the Pact. It has been this: Lutrecht, apparently out of a clear sky, has enunciated this principle and claims the confirmation of the Pact; that, whereas every nation of the Pact stands together against aggression by any member of it against another member, there is nothing in its constitution to prevent two members of the Pact arriving at a separate and individual understanding as regards proceedings directed against any nation not a member of the Pact. Do you follow me, Grant?"

"To the bitter end," was Grant's reply. "The thing's as plain as a pikestaff. I have felt this coming for years. We are close on the trouble now."

"Well," Lord Yeovil continued, "I suspended proceedings for twenty-four hours until after tomorrow's meeting."

Grant leaned a little forward in his chair. It was obvious that he was deeply moved.

"I can't tell you, sir, how much I appreciate your confidence," he said, "and honestly I think the fact that you have been willing to give it to me has been and will be helpful to the peace of the world. And now I am going to ask you something else. You are postponing the consideration of Prince Lutrecht's arguments until after tomorrow, as you admit, with a purpose. Is that purpose your intention to propose to the Conference that the United States be once more invited to join the Pact?"

The Prime Minister eyed his vis-a-vis, for a moment, with inscrutable countenance. He was no longer the indulgent father of a tomboy daughter or the genial host of a young people's party. He looked every inch of him the great statesman he really was.

"Where did you get that from, Grant?" he demanded.

"You know my position, sir," the young man replied earnestly. "I am the one foreign Secret Service agent my country can claim. Even then, I'm not official. I have money to spend and I spend it. I have sources of information and I use them. I have friends in Washington, too, with whom I am in touch hour by hour. This is not a question of betrayal; it is more divination. They expect that invitation on the other side, sir. And the best of them hope for it. Will it be forthcoming?"

Lord Yeovil considered for a full minute. Then he knocked the ash from his cigar.

"Well," he admitted, "you've seen your way to the truth, Grant. I'm going to risk it. It's a big thing so far as I am concerned. If, by any chance, the Conference opposes me, my resignation will be inevitable. If, by any chance, I get the thing through, and Washington refuses, I shall be the most discredited politician who ever placed his country in a humiliating position."

"I don't think the United States will refuse," Grant declared. "It is most unfortunate that the matter will have to go to the Senate and be publicly discussed because, of course, as you know, there are always malignant influences in a polyglot country like ours. But I know the feeling of the people who count. They want to come in like hell."

"I expect you've been supplying them with a little information," Lord Yeovil observed.

Grant nodded.

"I never leave them alone," he admitted. "To a certain extent I'm afraid they look upon me as an alarmist for the simple reason that there is scarcely a single citizen of the United States who doesn't believe absolutely in the impregnability of his country. However, I think I've stirred them up a little in Washington, and there's more to be done in that way, yet. Do you feel inclined to tell me, sir, what would be the prospect of the voting if you bring forward your motion tomorrow?"

"They appear to me to be in our favor," was the deliberate reply. "When the Pact was first formed any invitation to join it had to be unanimous. Lately, however, that has been modified. Unless there are four dissentients now, any nation proposed, becomes, if willing to join, 'ipso facto' a member of the Pact. I can conceive two; it might be possible to conceive three dissentients. I can put my finger upon no possible fourth."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Turn to the Right," which is to have its premiere performance on Wednesday, October 29, with the Dobinson Players, is one of the most successful plays ever produced. Coming from the pen of no less celebrities than Winchell Smith and John E. Hazzard, its high class entertainment has given pleasure to millions of people. It is drawn with an uncanny fidelity—the characters are absolutely real, people that you know, and the human heart interest is awakened to a sympathetic understanding.

Georgia Woodthorpe, the grand old lady of the stage, so well known in the big cities for her dramatic ability, has been especially engaged for the role of Mrs. Bascom, the loving mother.

William H. Stephens is featured as Joe Bascom, the boy who in trying to make good gets in wrong and is sent to prison through a frame-up. Mr. Stephens is receiving recognition for his splendid work with the Dobinson Players and is well liked for his personality.

In the cast are several well known players, among whom are Joseph McManus, who will interpret the role of Muggs, which he played in the leading eastern cities. Mr. McManus is a newcomer to the Dobinson Players and is well known in Los Angeles, where he has been associated with the Wilkes forces. Another new member of the company will be William Chapman, who was the original deacon in the first production. Gilly, one of the crooks, will be portrayed by Carroll Nye, who has already made a hit with his audiences for his clever character work. Marie Grey as Comfort in "A Prince There Was" helped to make its great success and returns again in the character of Betty Bascom. Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, charming ingenue of the company, plays the role of the sweetheart, and her work has been commended for its sincerity. Richard Ehlers, whose entrance on the stage is hailed with delight, is cast as Sam Martin, and once more will show his versatility. Completing the cast will be Thyra Ruhland, George C. Pearce, Arthur Lovejoy and Harry Glazier.

THE GATEWAY

From the Prince of Wales, a superb performance in that superb classic, "Beau Brummel," Willard Louis grabs fame again, this time in playing "Babbitt" in the picturization of Sinclair Lewis' book. Already the sale of this novel has provided a nation-wide audience waiting just outside the theater to crowd in and laugh at poor, fat "Babbit," who is a clown outside, but with the soul of a poet. And Willard Louis plays it with the double psychology.

He burst into fame over night through his work with John Barrymore. And for several years the screen has claimed him. But delicate as the carvings on the snuffboxes around him, was his characterization of Brummel's "fat friend."

But this rise to fame is only another of the Aladdin tales of Hollywood, the modern Bagdad. Obscure tonight—famous tomorrow.

"Babbitt" is a Warner Brothers Classic of the Screen and is now playing at the Gateway Theater today and Tuesday.

MURPHY COMEDIANS

"The Lonesome Trail," which opened last night at the tent theater of Murphy Comedians No. 2, San Fernando boulevard and Cedar street, Burbank, is a fast western comedy-drama in three acts, with Vin Moore, a personal selection of Horace Murphy, in the leading role. He is supported by Barbara Gurney, a Belasco find, who plays the ingenue lead.

The tent is well heated and ventilated, according to J. W. Davis, manager of the comedians, and there is plenty of free parking space for all patrons. The tent is but a stone's throw from the Glendale line and Mr. Davis states that it is fully as accessible as the former location in Casa Verdugo.

THE T. D. & L.

"Butterfly" continues at the Glendale Theater.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE POLICEMAN'S HAT

"Ting-a-ling-a-ling!" rang the telephone in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Hello! Hello!" answered the rabbit gentleman. "Who is it? What is it? What's the matter?"

"Oh, hello, Uncle Wiggily!" called Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, at the other end of the telephone. "Could you please come over here and stay with my baby pig Squeakie Squealer while I go to the movies?"

"Oh, yes! I guess I could do that for you, Mrs. Twistytail," spoke back Uncle Wiggily, who was kind and good, always doing favors for his friends. "I'll hop right over to your pen."

So the rabbit gentleman hopped to the pen house of the lady pig. She was all ready dressed to go to the movies, in her new green watermelon striped dress and her pink hat from the seven and nine cent store.

"I didn't want to leave Squeakie Squealer alone while I went to the movies," grunted Mrs. Twistytail, "and I simply must get out once in a while and see a picture."

"Quite right," said the bunny. "I'll take care of your little pig for you."

Away waddled fat Mrs. Twistytail, and Uncle Wiggily sang songs and told bedtime stories for Squeakie Squealer. At first the little pig was very good, but after a while, he began to cry:

"Do sumpin' else! Do sumpin' else!"

Uncle Wiggily stood on his head, he wiggled his tail, which was very hard for him to do, but still Squeakie Squealer cried.

"How would like me to make you a policeman's hat?" asked the bunny when he had tried whistling a funny tune, but that didn't please the little pig.

"Oh, I like a policeman's hat—make me one—please!" grunted Squeakie Squealer.

So, out of paper, Uncle Wiggily made a policeman's hat for the little pig, and Squeakie like it very much. He put it on and marched around the house with his mother's rolling pin for a club. Then, after a while Squeakie fell asleep, and by and by Mrs. Twistytail came back home. And quite time, too, for it was getting dark.

The lady pig thanked the bunny for amusing Squeakie with a policeman's hat, and Uncle Wiggily started to hop home to his hollow stump bungalow. But he was only half way through the darkening woods, when, all of a sudden, he heard a rustling noise in the dried leaves behind him. Looking back, the bunny saw the Bob Cat chasing him.

"Oh, how can I stop that Bob Cat?" thought the bunny. "I know what I'll do! I have a newspaper in my packet. I'm going to make me a policeman's hat——as I did for Squeakie—and put it on. Then I'll make a traffic sign on a piece of white birch bark. The Bob Cat will think I'm a traffic policeman and stop chasing me."

No sooner said than done. Uncle Wiggily made himself a paper policeman's hat and put it on. He found a piece of white birch bark and with red juice fro the sumach bush he painted a sign "stop."

Uncle Wiggily stuck this sign in the middle of the path and stood there, holding it up, wearing his police hat and with his back to the Bob Cat.

"Oh, I didn't know there was a traffic policeman here," howled the Bob Cat when he reached the sign. "Well, it says stop and I'd better stop, or I might get arrested. I wish he'd turn in to 'go' and then I could chase after Uncle Wiggily. I say, Traffic Policeman, turn that sign!" howled the Bob Cat. "I want to go!"

But the bunny wouldn't turn the sign. And the Bob Cat didn't dare go ahead for he thought it was a real animal policeman standing there. And after a while it grew very dar'. so Uncle Wiggily could drop the sign, and hop off under the bushes, which he did, getting safely home.

As for the Bob Cat, for all I know, he may be there in the woods yet waiting for it to get daylight so he can see if the sign says "go." And if the little canary bird doesn't pick a lollypop out of the cherry tree, and drop it on the head of the stairs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily beating a rug.

NOSEBLEED (EPISTAXIS), No. 1

Nose-bleeds are of very frequent occurrence in childhood. I remember my pals used to be rather pleasurably excited over them. How they happened, how long before they stopped, would keep us in topics of conversation for days.

There is a two-fold reason for the frequency of nose-bleed in childhood: first, the nose is a projecting organ, frequently serving as a point of impact with doors, floors and fists; second, the mucous membrane, especially of the septum of the nose (the middle partition) is very rich in superficial thin walled veins, which break very easily.

CAUSES. In general, we can say that there are two groups of causes for nosebleed at any time of life. They are the local and the constitutional causes. The local causes are: falls, blows, picking, ulcerations, and the like. The constitutional causes are: first, acute infections; nose-bleed may be one of the first symptoms of acute infections, such as typhoid, measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever; second, in heart, kidney and respiratory diseases, and possibly in increased blood pressure; third, diseases such as anemia, scurvy, etc., with alterations in the character of the blood; fourth, in the aged and others who have arteriosclerosis (hardened blood vessels). Nose-bleeds in all these instances are spontaneous, that is, without apparent local injury. (Simple nose-bleeds of childhood are very often spontaneous also.)

In the ordinary form of nose-bleed, there is not much blood lost, seldom over an ounce or so. Occasionally the loss may be sufficient to be fairly alarming. The bleeding usually ceases spontaneously, whether anything is done for it or not, through the natural clotting of the blood. Where there is much blood lost, there is a lowering of the blood pressure and that helps to stop the hemorrhage.

It is thought where there is high blood pressure, due to arteriosclerosis, that nose-bleed is a good symptom, because it relieves the pressure; otherwise, the hemorrhage might occur in the brain and cause apoplexy. The older physicians considered nose-bleed of value. Galen and Hippocrates both speak of it as a favorable symptom.

When there is a persistent, bloody, frothy nasal discharge in children, causing soreness of the upper lip, nasal diphtheria should be thought of and the family physician's attention called to it. A persistent, bloody nasal discharge in children may be caused by some foreign body also. Don't forget that children often tuck things away in their noses: peas, beans and pebbles seem to be among their favorites, as we find at the children clinics.

I'll tell you what to do for nose-bleed tomorrow.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Stomach No Trouble

"Dear Miss (?) Peters: When I adopted your most excellent plan of feeding. I weighed 204 and had all the stomach troubles that go with overeating; I now weigh 186 and have absolutely no trouble at all.

"When we go to the doctor and tell him our stomach is all out of order, why under the sun doesn't he tell us we are making pigs of ourselves?

"I would rather have the wrinkles of an Egyptian mummy and a turkey neck the envy of the turkey world, than go back to my original weight, style of eating and those disagreeable times with my tummy. Yours to acquire normal weight and stay there.

"WALTER C."

Don't you know what would happen to a doctor if he always told his patients what he thought of them?

I give your letter for I get many complaints from the Friendly Fat Fraternity (F. F. F.) about stomach trouble. You've told a big proportion of 'em what the trouble is, Mr. C., and the remedy. Thanks.

Tomorrow: Nose-bleed.. (Epitaxis) No. II.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Mrs. M.: "Not long ago a reader inquired about removing a butter-coloring stain from her dress. She can take out this stain by applying lemon juice and salt and then laying the material in the sun. I have tried it personally with good results."

Answer: It was good of you to write a letter giving us this information. It just proves that the world is full of unselfish people, doesn't it? I am sure your method is a splendid one. Here is another method I have just heard of: Wet the butter-color stain thoroughly with glycerine and let stand overnight; in the morning wash the dress and the spot should disappear.

A Reader Who Wants the "Multigraph of Six Best Cakes": "I know that your multigraphed articles are too long to be published in your column, but I wonder if you would not make an exception of the one giving the Six Best Cakes? I have so many friends and neighbors who want it, and it would save so much time just to have it appear in the column instead of having to write for it! Could you do this for us?"

Answer: Gladly. Tomorrow some of the recipes will be printed and the following Monday the remainder will appear. As my supply of the multigraphed cakes is practically exhausted, this would be an excellent way of getting it to everybody.

A Subscriber: "Kindly tell me if a water set and a pair of candlesticks are suitable ornaments for the top of a buffet."

Answer: I should consider them very tasteful buffet ornaments.

Mrs. M.: "We have had recipes from a good many nations but none from Finland. I wonder if some of our Column Readers would not send in some Finnish ones?"

Answer: This is a good suggestion. Let us hope we shall receive some for the column.

Mother's Helper: "Which duster is best for a piano, cheesecloth or silk?"

Answer: Silk. I am sure your piano is receiving the very best care as you are concerned by a detail of this sort which most housekeepers overlook.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Traffic Inspectors Ask State Court Aid

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Traffic captains and inspectors in the motor vehicle department have been requested to call on judges and justices in their respective territories and ask them to send abstracts of convictions of violations of the motor vehicle act to Sacramento at once. Chief Will H. Marsh of the motor vehicle division said many judges are negligent in this regard and are failing to comply with the law. The records are needed to identify negligent or criminal drivers on a second or third offence and secure adequate punishment in such cases.

London Dancers Want American Jazz Music

LONDON, Oct. 27.—English dancers are paying American saxophone artists real money to coax their feet into the ever-popular fox trot. London dance orchestras alone are paying $15,000 a week for American saxophone players.

The dance craze is running stronger than ever in London. The Savoy hotel is paying one orchestra alone largely recruited from America, something over $5000 a week. A good "saxophonologist" can demand $300 a week and get it.

Hallowe'en Party

Witches, goblins and black cats reigned supreme at the Hallowe'en party given Saturday night for members of the Aeolian music club of La Crescenta, by Miss Elizabeth Mottern of 211 North Adams street. The rooms of the Mottern home were attractively decorated with curtains of black and orange paper and witches, and cats as decorations for the windows. Cornstalks and Jack-o'lanterns were added decorative features. The rooms were lighted with candles and Jack-o'lanterns. A witch presided over her fire in one corner of the room. An informal program of music was given, followed by Hallowe'en stunts, and contests. Fortune telling was another feature of the entertainment. Refreshments of individual pumpkin pies, doughnuts, candy and coffee were served later in the evening. Members of the club include young people of high school and college age from Glendale, La Crescenta, La Canada, Montrose and Tujunga. The club is sponsored by Miss Marguerite Hauber of La Crescenta, who is a teacher in the college of music at the University of Southern California. She assisted the hostess. M'NEELY, PENNER ET AL BLANK HOLLYWOOD TEAM

Stellar Outfielder of Washington Senators Drives in First Run; Tiger Hurler Fans Eight and Allows But Three Hits

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

While five thousand fans expressed their approval by thunderous applause, the Glendale White Sox, with Earl McNeely, stellar outfield star of the Washington Senators, in the lineup, yesterday defeated the Hollywood Merchants 3 to 0 in one of the fastest exhibitions of baseball ever witnessed here.

McNeely, who played two games with the White Sox, came through with a smashing double in the fifth inning, which drove in the first run, and crossed the plate a few minutes later when Emerson hit to left field. He fielded his position in a manner that won plaudits from the vast throng.

Emerson, playing first base for the local team in the absence of "Chicken" Hawks, hit 1.000, getting three hits in three times at bat in addition to walking once.

Penner Effective

Ken Penner, pitching ace of the Vernon Tigers, who hurled for the White Sox, was most effective, mowing down the big batting guns of the Merchants with ease. He fanned eight men and issued only one walk. The Merchants got next to him for only three scratch hits, while the White Sox pounded Mike File for ten bingles.

McNeely was leadoff man for the Sox. File failed to win any cheers from the crowd when he walked the hero of the world series. McNeely essayed a steal, but was caught, Cook to Johnson. Emerson walked, but was forced at second on French's drive to Johnson. French went to second when Kimmick overthrew first in an attempt for a double play, but died there when Shea went out, Kimmick to Shellenbach.

McNeely was up again in the third inning, hitting to Whipple, who threw him out at first. His next time at bat was in the fifth, when he connected for a double, and drove in the first run.

Draws First Blood

Pfahler started the inning by walking, and was sacrificed to second by Bonelly. McNeely doubled to deep center, Pfahler scoring. Emerson singled to left, McNeely scoring on the drive. Emerson went to second on the throw to catch McNeely at the plate. French singled, sending Emerson to third, but Emerson was tagged out when he tried to get home on French's drive, Tipton to File to Whipple to Cook. French stole second a few minutes later, but Shea hit to Tipton, ending the inning.

McNeely's final time at bat was in the seventh. Bonelly had hit to left, and was safe at second when Johnson dropped Tipton's throw. McNeely tried hard to lift one over the fence, but fouled out to Whipple. Emerson's single sent Bonelly to third, and French's single scored him, also advancing Emerson to second. Shea fanned, and on the third strike, Emerson and French started a double steal, Emerson being caught between third and home, File to Cook to Whipple.

One-Two-Three

With the Hollywood team at bat it was "one-two-three" in five of the nine innings. Four men faced Penner in each of the remaining four innings. In the sixth Penner walked Tipton after File had got a scratch hit behind second base. Then Penner fanned Cutting and Kimmick hit into a double play.

File, pitcher for the Merchants, was the only player of the team to get passed second base, but he was not credited with reaching third for the double play, French to Pfahler to Emerson, ended the inning. This happened in the sixth, after Penner had walked Tipton and struck out Cutting.

Cutting and File were the hitting stars of the Merchants, Cutting getting two singles, one in the first and one in the ninth, and File getting his single in the sixth.

Fast Fielding

The game was marked by fast and accurate fielding throughout the entire nine innings by both teams. The Merchants rung up a double play in the second, Kimmick to Johnson to Shellenbach, when Shields was caught at second and Pfhaler at first.

McNeely seemed to play the entire outer gardens. He backed up second base, backed up left and right fielders and covered a lot of territory in general. He was fast on base running, coming in from second on a single to left, and beating the throw.

Shea, who played last season with Sacramento, and came here with McNeely, played a wonderful game behind the plate. Hollywood runners were afraid to attempt stealing bases on him, and the few who got on first hugged the base pretty close.

HIGH SPOTS FOUND IN SUNDAY'S GAME

It was the fastest game ever played at the San Fernando park. One hour and thirteen minutes after Umpire in Chief Bacom called "play ball" the boys were starting for the showers.

McNeely was given a big hand every time he walked to the plate, and when he drove out the double in the sixth that scored the first run the tension was broken. Washington fans didn't make any more noise than was heard at the park as the ball soared into deep center.

Penner had everything his own way. He fanned two in the first, two in the second, one in the sixth, two in the eighth, one in the ninth. He eased up in the sixth and walked Tipton, then turned around and fanned Cutting, who got two hits off him during the game.

Shea scored a knockdown in the seventh. He fouled one which hit the grandstand near the end. An elderly man, sitting in the box, ducked, and his chair slipped out from under him as he sprawled all over the floor of the box. Play was held up while the players and umpires joined the crowd in a hearty laugh. Shea was so tickled he fanned.

Bonelly would have been out a mile in the seventh if Johnson had hung onto the ball. As it was, Bonelly slid around him, and later scored.

Cutting got his singles in the first and last innings. He hit to left in the first and right in the ninth. The drive in the ninth would have been good for two bases if McNeely had not been playing that garden.

Penner was robbed of a hit in the fourth when Johnson booted his drive, and the Vernon pitching ace pulled up at first safe.

Three umpires were used. Bacom called balls and strikes, Leischner worked first and second and McDonald looked after third. McDonald had the softest snap of all.

The attendance was close to 5000. The grandstand was packed and cars lined the entire field. Several hundred persons stood back of first and third bases.

The Merchants went out in order in the third, fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth innings. The White Sox did this only once, in the eighth inning.

Tryon, Colgate, Leads In Scoring of Points

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Eddie Tryon of Colgate jumped into the lead for eastern scoring honors in intercollegiate football by scoring four touchdowns against Hobart on Saturday and bringing his total to sixty-seven points. Benkert of Rutgers ranks second with sixty-four points. Tryon and Benkert top the field in touchdowns with ten each.

In spite of his heavy scoring against Michigan, "Red" Grange of Illinois, ranks second in the big ten conference scoring. First place goes to Baker of Northwestern, with forty-three points, one more than Grange has scored. The latter, however, did not play on Saturday.

Predicts Football In Airplane In Decade

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—"Football will be played in airplanes," Percy Haughton, famous football coach, was quoted today as saying in the current edition of Varsity, illustrated magazine at Columbia university, in answer to a question as to what football would be ten years from now. Haughton, who seldom gives interviews, concluded this one with the six words quoted above.

Open Winter Loop Season Sunday, to Be 'Marty Krug' Day

The winter league season will officially open next Sunday, it was announced yesterday by Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox. The Glendale team will play the Gilmore Oilers here in the opening game. In the Oilers' lineup will be Ferdie Schupp, who pitched for the Kansas City Blues last year and was with the New York Giants at one time; Tubb Spencer of the Los Angeles Angels, and other big stars. Ken Penner will hurl for Glendale, and it will be "Mary Krug" day, as the pilot of the Angels will play second base for the White Sox. Krug is a resident of Glendale.

ST. LOUIS GIANTS TRIM WHITE SOX

McNeely In Lineup But Fate Unkind to Him; Bonelly Wild In Third

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

In a slow game at Goodyear Park Saturday the Glendale White Sox were nosed out by the St. Louis Giants before over 1000 colored baseball fans, 3-2. Dick, who was on the mound for the Pale Hose, lost his own game in the third with two passes and a wild pitch. Gurley, the Giants' moundsman, pitched rather erratic ball but managed to turn in a win through the fast fielding of his mates.

The Giants scored one marker in the first chapter when "Pinkey" Ward tripled along the left field foul line and came home when Bobo lifted a skyscraper to Emerson in left garden. The colored boys put over the winning runs in the third when Bonelly became wild, Ward and Reece scoring.

The Sox made a desperate attempt to rally in the eighth but fell short by one tally. Hawks was walked and advanced on Murphy's single. Dorman connected and Hawks socred. Murphy followed when Emerson hit a single. Shields popped out and Pfahler was thrown out at first to end the inning.

With the bases thickly populated and only one man dead the Glendale boys had a chance to score in the first but lacked the punch to put over runs.

McNeely in Lineup

Earl McNeely, who was on hand to exhibit his prowess went hitless, but only because fate was against him. He was passed in his first trip to the plate and in his second was hit by a pitched ball. With the count two and two the third time Gurley slipped one by which, although it appeared to be a foot wide, was called a strike by Umpire Leischner. McNeely protested vigorously. In his last two times at Bat McNeely slammed the ball far into the depths of left field but "Pinkey" Ward cheated the world series hero on both occasions with sensational running catches which brought the spectators to their feet.

Denney Murphy got two hits, one a double, in two trips to the plate, and Shields got three safe blows in four tries. Reece got two out of four, one hit being the aforementioned triple.

Notre Dame Will Not Meet Princeton Soon

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—So far as contemplated now, there will be no meeting next year between Princeton and Notre Dame foot ball teams, Coach Knute Rockne said here before taking his squad back to South Bend.

Plans now are under way, Rockne said, to send Notre Dame against Pennsylvania in Philadelphia next year, and Pennsylvania probably will play at South Bend the following year.

Rockne said his team was in good shape for its game next Saturday with Georgia Tech. Harris Stuhlerder was injured in the closing minute of play against Princeton, and may be out for some time.

FOOTBALL

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—This is Blue Monday among the collegiate wash line.

Rockne, Roper, Fisher, Jones, Folwell, Zuppke and other "house wives" are industriously hanging out the weekly wash and some of it is not exactly immaculate. In fact there are many pieces hanging along that line which will never be clean again.

Some few of the latter were Harvard, Minnesota, Washington and Jefferson, Princeton, Centre college, Wisconsin and Williams. Hitherto clean, they failed to come out of the wash this week as cleanly specimens, Harvard losing to Dartmouth, Minnesota to Iowa, W. & J. to Lafayette, Princeton to Notre Dame, Centre to West Virginia, Williams to Columbia and Wisconsin to Michigan.

Snow white, however, are the neck bands and starched cuffs of Notre Dame, California, Illinois, Lafayette, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Standford, Marquette and Washington among others. They haven't the faintly greyish tinge of Dartmouth, Iowa, Lehigh. Ohio State, Yale and Rutgers, the records of which are slightly soiled by tie scores.

The most significant of Saturday's returns was the 12 to 0 decision of Notre Dame over Princeton. It definitely settled the status of the Irish as a national leader with Illinois, Lafayette and a comparative with others and exposed Princeton's weakness for what it was. The Tigers, seemingly, had no attack and were badly handled. On the other hand, Notre Dame played even better football than it did against the army a week before.

In the middle west it would appear that the situation has greater clarity than in any other section. Notre Dame and Illinois, judged on their records, are the best teams in that section, with Iowa, Ohio State and Marquette still in contending positions.

Bears Showing Class; Trojans Looming Up Strong

By MILLER HOLLAND
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—At last the 1924 University of California football varsity has begun to function as a smooth running grid machine, according to supporters of the Blue and Gold, who base their optimism on the favorable 20 to 7 showing of California against Washington State Saturday, and hopes are high today that the Bears may yet come through with their fifth consecutive year of undefeated football.

Stanford had a terrible battle with Idaho in Portland but finally managed to emerge on the long end of a short 3 to 0 score when Murray Cuddeback, Cardinal halfback, kicked a field goal. As the result of this game, Idaho can be considered out of the running so far as Pacific coast conference honors are concerned.

The University of Washington Huskies lost some of their prestige when they were only able to beat the Oregon Aggies in Seattle 6 to 3, after everybody had expected Washington to trim O. A. C. by a much larger margin.

Undoubtedly the rainfall over the northwest Saturday had something to do with the closeness of the scores in the Portland and Seattle contests.

Any edge in football supremacy that may be running around right now in the conference is claimed for U. S. C. by the backers of the University of Southern California. U. S. C. beat Nevada in a non-conference game Saturday 21 to 7. Coach Henderson's eleven is said to be more definitely settled in their respective grooves than the team of any other conference college. California battles U. S. C. next Saturday in Berkeley.

Showing unexpected offensive strength, University of Oregon scored a 40 to 6 victory over Whitman college Saturday, giving Coach Maddock hopes for a fairly successful season in spite of the one conference defeat chalked up against him by Stanford.

Glendalians Back From Visit to Catalina Isle

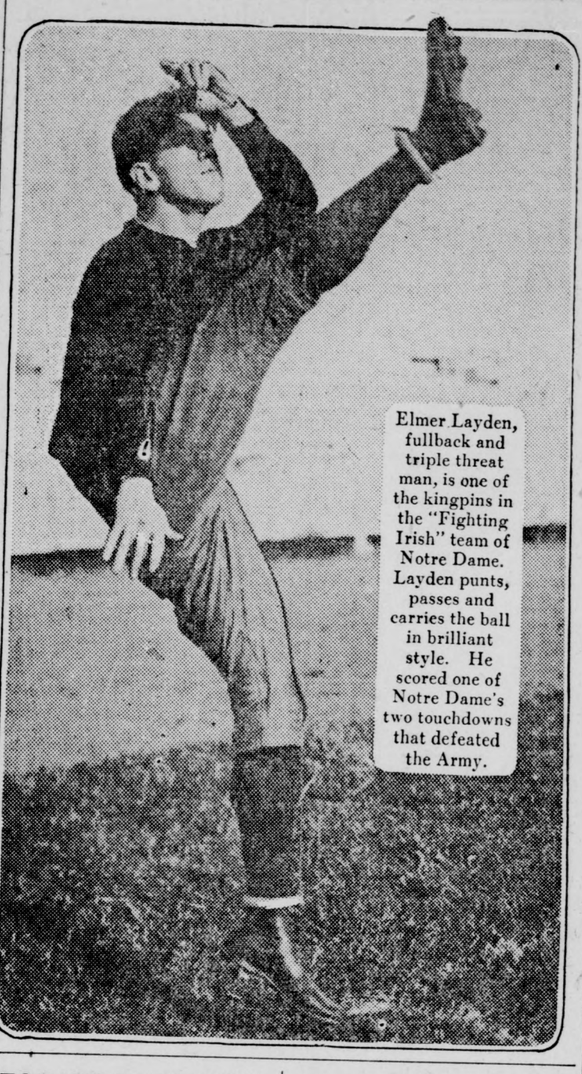
Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Robison of 916 Coronado drive, have returned from Catalina island, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Renton. During their visit they attended the Catalina Boy Scout demonstration, under the direction of H. Benjamin Robison. Mr. Renton, who is vice-president and manager of the Stanta Catalina Co., is chairman of the Catalina Scout shipping board. After the demonstration at the island a court of honor was held, with badges given to two Star Scouts and an Eagle Scout application approved.

Parking Arranged for Central Avenue Clients

Hartman's Meat Market, Daley's Cash Grocery and Jimmie Mitchell's Fruit and Vegetable stand, located at 133 South Central ovenue have made arrangements wit hthe Frank Meline Co., who are agents for the vacant lot located on the corner of Hawthorne and Central avenue to use this lot as a free parking space for the convenience of their patrons while Central avenue is being paved. Automobles can drive up Orange to Hawthorne and turn on lote, or turn off Harvard or Broadway to Orange to reach this space.

Dangerous For Opponents

When Knute Rockne and his famous football team get through sightseeing this year at the end of the gridiron season, other football teams will rest easier, for they know there will be nothing further to fear from ELMER LAYDEN until next year.



Elmer Layden, fullback and triple threat man, is one of the kingpins in the "Fighting Irish" team of Notre Dame. Layden punts, passes and carries the ball in brilliant style. He scored one of Notre Dame's two touchdowns that defeated the Army.

Kansas Farm to Be Sold at Auction, Then Back to Glendale to Live

By GIL A. COWAN
Written for The Evening News

Consolidated Press association, which serves The Glendale Evening News, distributed a copyrighted story Sunday in which it was hinted that Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, will retire from the ring undefeated, if possible. That is an admirable resolve, particularly in view of the fact that Harry Wills, a negro, would likely be his opponent.

A dispatch from Topeka, Kan., reports Jess Willard as having completed arrangements for the sale of his farm. "He is leaving for California," the reporter adds. Why, he has been a resident of Glendale for more than a year, and simply visited Kansas to get rid of that farm.

Walter Johnson pitched an invincible game for the White King Soap nine in Los Angeles against the Vernon nine yesterday, only to see George Payne go in and lose the game 5 to 1. On October 31 Walter will be the star of an Orange county Elks contest at Brea bowl. Babe Ruth also will be there.

This afternoon Babe Ruth, Earl McNeely and other big league stars are cavorting at Washington park in a benefit game for the Knights of Columbus, with Bill Essick of Vernon piloting one nine and Marty Krug the other. Mayor George E. Cryer and President Harry Williams of the Pacific Coast league were at the Southern Pacific this morning to greet the Bambino on his arrival from the North.

Paul Derkum is up to his old tricks again. He is building an auto speedway at Bakersfield, where he has chosen to reside for the last seven years. A gravelled oil surface will cover the ten-foot banks. Perhaps Paul wants the speedway for his private pleasure as much as anything else, since motor cops have spoiled his speeding. Last time we rode with him he made a street corner on two wheels at sixty-five per.

ALL BATHS RECORDED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Myo John Elliott, who was alleged to have recorded his baths in the family Bible, lost his wife, Maybelle C. Elliott, when Judge J. W. Summerfield granted her a divorce. Mrs. Elliott testified she had great difficulty in inducing her husband to bathe, and when she succeeded she declared he would make an entry in the family Bible that "I have taken my annual bath." The defendant also was abusive and threatened her, Mrs. Elliott said.

One walk spoiled a perfect record yesterday for Roberts of the Riveria team who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Latin club. He struck out thirteen. Rivera hit Deveory hard, getting eleven runs.

Van Nuys jumped into the lead of the San Fernando Valley league yesterday by beating San Fernando 6 to 5.

The Hollywood Sash and Door team proved easy pickings for Burbank when the northenders won from the lumbermen 11 to 3. Burbank scored nine runs in the second inning.

Lefty Ross was effective and as a result the Pasadena Merchants beat the Western Colored Stars yesterday 4 to 2 at Tournament park.

The Buick Autos and the Union Oils played a tight game yesterday at Brea, the autos winning 2 to 1.

DEATHS - FUNERALS

TOMMY BLOOMINGDALE

Funeral services for Tommy Bloomingdale, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bloomingdale, who died last week in Claremont, will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park.

MRS. FLORENCE R. TAYLOR

The countless friends of Mrs. Florence Ruth Taylor will be shocked to learn of her death, Sunday, October 26, 1924, at the family home, 1450 East Stanley avenue. Mrs. Taylor was born in Tropico twenty-seven years ago, and had many friends in Glendale and vicinity. Surviving her are her husband Harold S. Taylor; a daughter Evelyn Ruth; and two sons, Paul Albert and an infant; her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tarr; and there sisters, Mrs. Blanche Morrow, Mrs. Mary MacDonald, Mrs. Ethel Gillies of Glendale.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday in the chapel at Grand View Memorial park. Jewel City Undtertaking Co., in charge.

STUDENTS IN GAME

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27.—That Yale students respond to the call for athletics not only because of the lure of intercollegiate audiences and that the games played before a handful of spectators are as compelling as those played in the presence of 75,000 people in the Bowl, is indicated by the fact that intramural athletics at Yale were engaged in by 1269 men during the year.

Judge Elbert Gary, speaking at the convention of the American Iron and Steel Institute says business has steadily increased for several months, and steel bookings the the first half of October averaged 5000 tons a day more than in September.

The cotton market has had much to contend with the past week, such as larger crop ideas, heavy ginning estimates, political equations and large tenders on October contracts, yet values held their own, due to weather, including heavy killing frosts.

Wheat in Alberta, based on threshing returns, has turned out very disappointing, while oats are light and poor.

The Modern Miller reports that a big portion of winter wheat area has been seeded already, and work has been rapid because of favorable weather, although rains would be beneficial now in the Southwest section of the Ohio valley.

Predictions now are being made that the consumption of crude oil on the Pacific coast will balance the production unless new pools are developed before next spring. A total of 475,000 barrels of crude a day is necessary for local demands of refineries and railroads.

The Pacific Gas and Electric corporation declared a regular quarterly preferred $1.50 dividend, payable November 15, stock of record October 31.

With the election of Coolidge assured by political analysts, and particularly the Hearst newspapers' poll, there is said to be a tendency of financial leaders to keep the New York stock market from "running up" and getting out of bounds until after election, for fear of an early setback.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Gordon Ayer, 23, said to have posed as a special deputy sheriff from Jefferson county, Colorado, coming here to return a prisoner, has been arrested and placed in the county jail after Colorado authorities had wired that he was not their representative.

Hulen N. Griffen, scion of wealthy Gardena parents and prominent fraternity man, was sentenced by Judge Hardy to serve a total of three years in the county jail following his plea of guilty to as many counts of driving his machine while intoxicated. While Griffin was being sentenced, his wife and child sat in the courtroom hearing his fate.

John Sears, Jack Ferdinand and John Geregac, convicted of the murder of Charles A. Chapman, wealthy insurance broker, must be hanged for the crime, it was determined today by the supreme court. The three youths appealed for a new trial and the motion was denied by the higher court.

Internal Revenue Collector Rex. B. Goodcell is happily absent from the city as the publication of the taxes paid by many prominent personages are being published. John T. Riley, his chief deputy, is entertaining infuriated dignitaries including many film stars, who object to the publicity.

Sergeant William Pfaff of the Chinatown area was walking through Marchessault street. A fusillade of bullets from the rooftops told him a tong war over the lotteries had started. He telephoned for police reserves, and Chinese citizens closed up shop for the night and hid in their cellars. Quiet reigns as riot squads patrol the district with shot guns.

Civic Center Will Add Value To All Property, Declares E. C. Pendroy

"Tax Bills and the Civic Center" was a subject that inspired the following interview with Earle C. Pendroy, prominent department store owner:

"Does the merchant, when his tax bill comes—the tax bill that hits him right between the eyes—that for a moment staggers him—close his shop and stop business?" demanded Mr. Pendroy. "Does he stop displaying his merchandise? Does he stop advertising? You know he does not. He tries even harder to improve his business.

"Should we not look upon our community affairs with the same wisdom? Our high taxes this year are caused from high valuation, not from high rates. High valuation is either just or unjust. If just, we have no complaint. If unjust, we should blame the county appraisers, not our civic improvement bonds.

Progressive City

"Our bonds are to blame only in the sense that the improvements created through their sale add to our city's attractiveness and worth, thus advancing our property's valuation very materially. The city with the high taxes, if just ones, is the progressive city and the one which makes the most money for its citizens and merchants through its enterprise.

"Let us not, in a moment of surprise and discouragement, refuse to support the very projects that will help us in the long run to recover many times over the taxes that annoy us so much about this time each year. Let not those who were friends of the civic center before they received their tax bills turn down this worthy project now. Let us be bigger and braver than that. Remember what it means to Glendale now and what it will mean in years to come to have started a civic center where it logically belongs."

WARSHIPS JOIN IN NAVY DAY AFFAIR

Twenty-Thousand Visitors to See Wonders of Men-of-War In Harbor

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 27.—Commemorating the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt in the observance of Navy Day this seaport of Los Angeles today was the mecca for thousands of visitors to the U. S. S. California, flagship of the Pacific field, as well as the battleship Maryland and the cruiser Seattle anchored in the roadstead of Los Angeles harbor decorated in all their glorious flags, spick and span, and every sailor man on his best behavior.

This afternoon guests are being entertained with drills and exercises and instructive talks by officers of the fleet. A hydroplane will be catapulted from the deck of the California as a concluding feature of the demonstration of preparedness.

West Virginia, greatest of all Uncle Sam's seafighting men of war, arrived in time for the ceremonies while the battleships Arizona and Idaho moved over to Long Beach overnight. All along the coast the fleet is scattered at seaport towns to give the people an idea of "their navy."

Brilliant Night Display

Admirals of the fleet are in the nearby cities making speeches, Rear Admiral W. V. Pratt being the honored guest at a Navy Day luncheon of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

For those who visit San Pedro this evening a beautiful sight is promised when the ships will strip their lines of bunting and flags and replace them with a multitude of lights. Giant searchlights will play upon the boats. Thousands of motorists are expected to take up vantage points on Point Fermin to enjoy this feature.

Small boats are handling a crowd estimated at 20,000 to inspect the electrically driven California and West Virginia before sundown.

LONG BEACH TEAM WINS DRILL TEST

Glendale Commandery Gets Junior Division Honors At Field Day

The drill team of the Long Beach Commandery, No. 40, Knights Templar, won the silver trophy and the Southern California championship for the second successive year, in the final big event of the annual Templar field day held in Glendale Saturday. Long Beach took the A division trophy. Glendale Commandery's crack B. division team walked off with honors in the junior division, when they scored a percentage of 92, against 75 for their nearest competitor.

Final results for Saturday's event were: Class A, Long Beach, 95.41; Los Angeles No. 9, 87; Golden West, Los Angeles, 85; Pasadena, 75.09. Class B, Glendale, 92; Los Angeles No. 9 (B team), 75; Long Beach (B team), 70.9.

Following the parade through the downtown streets of Glendale, the ranks moved to the athletic field at Harvard Union High high school, where the drill competitions were held. The grandstand was packed when Pasadena, the first team to compete, took the field. Each team was allowed ten minutes in which to execute a given list of movements. Judges of the competition were Stanley Chapman, Fullerton; C. F. Hutchings, South Pasadena, and A. L. Carroll of Englewood Commandery, Chicago. All judges are past commanders of the Templar order.

Teams Competing

Long Beach (A team) next took the field. Then came Golden West team, then Los Angeles No. 9 (A team). Results were not announced in Class A. until after the Class B competitions were over.

Long Beach took the field first in the junior class, Glendale followed and Los Angeles No. 9 was last.

Following the competitions, all seven drill teams took the field, to hear the judges' decisions. State Grand Commander Charles Malcolm awarded the cups, commending the work of both teams, the former for winning two years in succession, and the latter for its splendid showing in view of the short time the team has been organized. Announcement of the place for next year's field day was not made.

New Drill Rules

Saturday's competitions were held under the new drill regulations, which are being considered for adoption before the triennial of Seattle, June 28-31, 1925. It was the first time that Templar teams had competed under the new regulations in California. The results were declared by grand officers to have been highly successful.

Among distinguished knights who watched the drill teams in action was S. M. Cole, oldest Templar in the United States. Sir Knight Cole, a resident of Pasadena, is 98 years old. He has been a Knight Templar for fifty-six years. "Keep stirring, lads, keep busy, and you will live as long as I have," he told a group of the "youngsters" (grand officers) who were upon the stand with him.

Members of the Glendale committee in charge of the affairs of the day, this morning officially expressed their gratitude to all those who assisted in making the annual field day a huge success. In particular they mentioned the Glendale police department and city officials, the Boy Scouts and the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association members, who furnished the cars for use in the parade and at other times during the day. The newspapers were also thanked heartily by the committee.

PRODIGAL SONS AND DAUGHTERS

Editor's Note — This is the first of a series of articles written for The Glendale Evening News by Carlos S. Hardy, judge of the superior court of Los Angeles county. The articles will show that "crime never pays." Judge Hardy's position and his study of the cases before him qualifies him to present the articles in an interesting manner. The first is on "The Gambler." The second is on "Disobedience of Children Beginning of Crime."

I—THE GAMBLER

By CARLOS S. HARDY
Judge of the Superior Court, Los Angeles County

One of the most striking chapters of the Bible is that presenting the Prodigal Son, and he is one of the best remembered characters in the Scriptures.

The Prodigal Son spoken of by the Christian Master became famous because he repented of his wrong doing and returned to the path of righteousness, which leads to the Heavenly Father's house.

The land is filled with present-day prodigal sons, and prodigal daughters, too, and most of them find their ways into the criminal courts. Some of them eventually repent of their crimes and return to the path of right living, and therefore, reside in the "house of their Father," but many, very many, continue to live the life of the prodigal.

Many Crooked Paths

There are many kinds of crooked paths that the prodigal sons and daughters travel, and they all lead into the criminal courts. A young man, handsome, intellectual and strong, came into my court before he was 30 years old, charged with murder. He had killed a man in a gambling game. In this case, as in all others, there were causes for crime, and the causes sometimes lie far back in the criminal's life. The seeds of crime often are planted in childhood.

The murdered man we will call Jones, and the murderer, Brown. These are not their names, but they will do for the purpose of this article. The unfortunate Jones was not a gambler. He seldom ever made a bet, but being something of a man of the world, he accepted an invitation to participate in a quiet little "gentleman's game" of dice. Like many novices at gambling, he experienced the "fool's luck" and won most of the stakes. When the game was about to break up, Brown demanded larger stakes than Jones was willing to play for, and, in a moment of rage, Brown shot and killed Jones.

Takes Two Lives

Brown was tried and hanged, and thus two lives ended in tragedy. Little did Jones imagine that any harm could come from a little private game of dice. He was as innocent of wrong intent as most men who enter a gambling game. He had forgotten the motto his mother had taught him to repeat in his youth, which was to "shun evil companions." Had he only remembered it, and said "no" when invited into the game, he would have saved his life. It is hard for some boys and young men to say "no." Jones could not say "no" to his supposed friend. He did not realize that a real friend never asks another to gamble.

And Brown had been reared as many country boys, by poor but honest parents, and while young was sent away into the city to go to school. When he grew up to young manhood, and would go home for his vacations, he was ashamed of the old-fashioned ways of his father and mother, as many other boys have been. He forgot all the struggles of his parents to raise and educate him as a young man of the times. Their sacrifices meant nothing to him—and so Brown left his father's as many another prodigal son has done, feeling that he was better than his kin, and that they were old fogies who could not understand nor appreciate him.

Too Smart to Work

Like the Prodigal Son of the Bible, Brown "went into a far country." He thought himself too smart to work, and so he looked for easy ways of making a living. He made friends with men and women of his own type, for truly "birds of a feather flock together." He forgot all the lessons he had learned in church and Sunday school. He never went to church any more, because he thought only silly old people went to church. He spent much time in the pool halls, and finally he met a girl who had left her home because she thought her people too slow, and had gone to the city to make her way in the world. She was a good mate to Brown. looked upon people and life generally as he did, and so they were married. They concluded that the world owed them a living, and they did not intend to take it by work. They lived by their wits, but failed to realize that such wits as they exercised soon play out.

Triangle Affair

There was a "triangle" affair, and a shooting, and Brown's wife went to prison for a long term, which was the sad ending of her wayward career as a prodigal daughter, while Brown himself went to the scaffold for the murder of Jones.

Neither Brown nor his wife had the wisdom of the original prodigal son, who turned away from crime before it was too late.

The tragic end of Jones repeats the tale thousands of times told, that the evil of gambling and of evil companions leads to but one end—that of ruin. The life and execution of Brown, and the punishment in prison of his wife proclaims the inevitable truth that "crime never pays." Every child and youth should be taught this truth until it is part of their being, and likewise they should be taught to know that as one sows so shall he reap. The youth who begins to gamble may expect to become a gambler, and reap the sure reward of a gambler's fate, which is failure.

Rev. Edmonds Uses as Text 'Oath of Fealty'

Rev. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church used as his text yesterday: "But he spoke the more vehemently. If I should die with Thee, I will not deny Thee in anywise. Likewise said they all."—Mark 14:31.

"This verse constituted a great oath of fealty to Christians," Rev. Edmonds said, "and it is a mighty vow of allegiance, a sublime consideration of unfaltering faith."

FOOTBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about football—

If you want a rule interpreted—

If you want to know anything about a play—

Write Lawrence Perry, for fifteen years an authority on the game as writer and official. If you want a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

ADDRESS: Lawrence Perry, Special Football Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, 814 World Building, New York.

QUESTION—A kicker punts from close to his line of scrimmage. One or more team mates is behind him when kick is made. Is there any circumstance by which these onside men may recover the ball?

ANSWER—No. A ball may be recovered by a player of the kicker's side only after a free kick or kick-off.

QUESTION—A forward pass is thrown by Team A. An eligible man of Team A and a defending player catch the ball simultaneously. Does the ball then belong to the player who can wrest it from the other?

ANSWER—No. The ball belongs to the side that put it in play—in the case in question, therefore, to Team A.

QUESTION—A back running with the ball is about to be tackled. He tosses it back of him to a tackle or other lineman. Is that line man eligible to run with it?

ANSWER—Any player may at any time receive a ball from a member of his own team who is in front of him. The only stipulation against passing is the forward throwing of the ball.

NEW YORK CLOSING

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Stock prices moved nervousl yand irregprices moved nervously and irregin today's market. Professional traders tested the strength of the market in the first two hours, simultaneously with the outpouring of a large volume of speculative industrial stocks on profit taking. The oils were not bothered with by professionals, but selling was absorbed and at the end of the period, the oils were apparently ready for another climb into higher price levels.

Strong and buoyant cotton and grain markets and further evidence of the increase in industrial production were without special effect on the stock market. An attitude of extreme conservatism in the pre-election week had been expected by most of the commission houses, and traders were more anxious to "even up" their speculative position than to take on new commitments in the final week before the presidential election. The outside public was apathetic and the market was dominated by the professionals who were more than inclined to sell than buy.

The upward movement in prices of railroad stocks came to an abrupt halt as stocks which had been moving forward rather briskly in the last ten days were sold on profit-taking operations. Some of the low priced rails were strong enough to move against the tide. Frisco common sold below 38 for a loss of about 2 points below last week's high.

Industrial leaders were generally irregular, as American Can, General Electric, Baldwin and some of the specialty stocks were made the target for bearish sales. American Can lost about 3 points, General Electric 3, Baldwin 1. Yellow Cab sustained a sharp loss of seven points and sold down to a new low at 43, on reports that further earnings were disappointing.

U. S. Steel led the steel stocks into a moderate rally in the fourth hour. Bethlehem Steel found good support around 40 and Penn Seaboard Steel continued the activity which featured it in the last few days, also rising fractionally to 1¾. Coppers were in good form, but were not strong enough to move against the downward trend of the market. American Smelters and Cerro De Pasco were the most active stocks in this group. Stock sales today—587,400 shares; bonds $10,809,000.

J. A. Burden Returns From World Conference

J. A. Burden, general manager of the Glendale Sanitarium, returned yesterday from Des Moines, Iowa, where he has been attending the world conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church. Mr. Burden was away from Glendale approximately two weeks.

Medical work being accomplished by the Seventh Day Adventists throughout the world, particularly in Africa and the far east, was one of the main topics discussed at length at the conference.

During the sessions, a call came for twenty-six medical men to go to the far east under the supervision of the Adventists church. W. H. Miller, medical superintendent of the sanitarium at Washington, D. C., will become general secretary of the work in the far east in the near future, Mr. Burden announced.

State Denies Ku Klux Use of Fair Grounds

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Application by the Ku Klux Klan for permission to use the state fair grounds for the purpose of staging a ceremonial, has been unanimously denied by the state agricultural society. While the proceedings of the state were not made public it is said the permit was denied on the ground that the klan is an outlawed organization.
